Cop Suspended After Joy Ride

CAUGHT IN CHASE AT BEACH

Woman in Car Accompanies Him to Station; Board to Hear Facts

As a result of an automobile tour of Nantasket, accompanied by a young woman not his wife, Patrolman Chester W. Conroy of the Roxbury station has been suspended from the police department.

Conroy, who is married and has three children, was found guilty in North Abington Police Court of drunkenness and operating a machine while under the influence of liquor.

He paid fines of $5 and $10 on each charge respectively, and a charge of brandishing a pistol at a Metropolitan Park policeman was not pressed.

Conroy, an overseas veteran, who has twice been commended for good work in the police department, was arraigned before a trial board on charges preferred by Captain Jeremiah Sullivan of Station 10. His trial for conduct unbecoming an officer will take place some time this week.

The policeman's escapade is said

Senor and Senora Laos Drive Up to Police Station With Their Troubles

Lewiston, Me., Sept. 5.—A handsome woman drove up to police headquarters in a chummy roadster that wasn't chummy at the moment because she was alone in it. She was visibly agitated.

To a bored official she said:

"I am Mrs. Mariano A. Laos, of Boston. I need your protection."

"From whom?"

"From my husband."

San Francisco, Sept. 5.—Willard Mack, former husband of Mae Leona, Marjorie Rambeau and Pauline Frederick, who was reported vainly to have offered his hand and fortune in a terse telegram to Peggy Joyce, has lost his fourth wife, a bride of seven months.

The actor playwright admitted that Beatrice Beebe Bayard Stone Mack, of Los Angeles, whom he wedded in January, has taken herself out of his marital picture. The scenario of the fourth Mack romance began when Beatrice Bayard, of Salt Lake, played in his

SEEK LONGER CLOSING OF CHELSEA BRIDGE

Through the efforts of Mayor Lawrence Quigley of Chelsea, the hearing of the Chelsea North Draw Bridge, set for October 5, has been moved forward to October 1. The hearing will be held in the Civil Service examination room of the Custom House.

At this hearing residents of Chelsea will try to lengthen the number of hours during which the draw may not open to let vessels through. They claim that traffic is seriously delayed by the present schedule of hours for opening the draw. At present the closed hours are from 6:30 to 9 in the morning and from 4:30 to 7 in the evening. The changes asked are that the draw be closed from 6:30 to 9:30 in the morning and from 4 to 7 in the evening.

ATTEMPT TO ROB BROADWAY THEATRE

Thieves made an attempt to rob the safe of the Broadway Theatre, Chelsea, some time early today. It was discovered by the janitor, Michael Torchia. The safe, which contained the receipts for Saturday, Sunday and Monday, was lying on the floor and showed signs of having been battered. A large hole had been made in the door and the lock had been broken.

MISTREATS GIRL, THEN BURNS BODY

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 5.—Omar P. Roberts, a guide, today confessed to the murder at Kemptville of Miss Flora Gray. After the girl had been mistreated, her body was burned with gasoline. Jealousy is given as the motive for the crime.

STANDISH WILLCOX AMONG INJURED AS CAR UPSETS

Three prominent Bostonians narrowly escaped death when their car, loaded with booze and driven by a drunken chauffeur, skiddedon Hereford street and completely overturned.

Standish Willcox, social secretary to Mayor Curley.

Ex-Alderman Willliam Berwin.

City Assessor Joseph M. Smart.

Although all were badly shaken up, they refused to go a hospital.

The accident occurred on Saturday, but the police gave out no news of it. It came to light today when the chauffeur of the car, Louis J. Lanata, of No. 1633 Blue Hill avenue, Mattapan, was arraigned before Judge Dunn in Municipal Court on a charge of driving a car while intoxicated. The case was continued for two weeks.

Despite the reluctance of the police to discuss the case, it is known that shortly before the accident occurred the big auto was racing along Commonwealth avenue at a rate far in excess of the legal speed.

CAR TURNED OVER.

The accident occurred following an attempt to avoid a collision with another car. In trying to avoid hitting the other car Lanata sent his wheel sharply and sent the car, on two wheels, swerving into Hereford street. The pavement was wet, and the car skidded in a complete circle, landing against the curb and turning completely over.

Traffic Officers Cain, Noonan and Malloy arrived on the scene a few minutes later. They helped right the

MRS. VALENTINO MYSTERIOUSLY CANCELS TRIP

New York, Sept. 5.—Say what you will, brothers, there's mystery in this.

First of all, Rodolph Valentino (surely you've heard the name) slips into New York, incognito, and is in town for ten days before it is known the great screen matador is here.

Then it becomes known that his bride, Winifred Hudnut, foster daughter of the perfume manufacturer, is also in town, but living with her parents while Rodolph occupies a picturesque bachelor apartment.

WANTS $7,500.

Then Rodolph explains his visit to New York by saying that he is here to take legal steps to compel Famous-Players to pay him more than the measly $1,200 a week he is being insulted with. He wants $7,500 a week. But his visit to New York has nothing to do with his romance.

Then, of a sudden, it is announced that Mrs. Valentino will sail for Europe on the Olympia, accompanied by her parents. For what is not announced. Just a trip. It is hinted that the trip is to get to Paris, where she would be joined by Rodolph, and there they would be married again. For there is a cloud on their first marriage in Mexico. Jean Acker, the first Mrs. Valentino, has not yet received her final decree.

The baggage is aboard. Photographers have taken pictures of the most envied bride in America. The airons of the great ship are warning farewelling well wishes to get to shore.

CANCELS TRIP.

Climax!

Winifred leaves the boat.

At the White Star line it was said Winifred's passage had been cancelled at the last moment.

"I received telegrams on board which have made it imperative for me to cancel my trip," the lady in the case said at the Biltmore, where she was besieged by an army corps of reporters and photographers. "I cannot reveal the nature of the telegram."

4TH WIFE QUITS ACTOR MACK

company in the Mormon capital at the age of twelve. She is now twenty-three and Mack is forty-four.

Mack's No. 4, herself a divorcee, became his wife in the "City of Angels" before Justice Hand, and Mack congratulated himself that he had finally found "the one woman for him."

Apparently, he miscalculated, for Mrs. Mack, he said today, had rang down the curtain on their marital experience and went to Los Angeles.

At the time Mack first met little Miss Bayard he was the husband of Maude Leone, then his leading woman. Miss Bayard later was married to and divorced John S. Stone.

Last Winter when Mack was acting in Salt Lake City, he again met his former juvenile and a swift wooing resulted. When Mack returned to the coast to produce several new plays, she followed and they were soon married.

Less than a month after their marriage Mack had a nervous breakdown at Los Angeles and underwent a severe siege in the Lutheran Hospital, his bride remaining by his side.

He had suffered a previous nervous breakdown at the home of Eddie Foy in New Rochelle, N. Y., in August of 1921. Foy sent him to the home of his parents in Calvary, Canada, providing him with a nurse, doctor and $3,500 in advance on a play Mack was writing. The remedies also paid all the other expenses of Mack's trip of recuperation.

At that time it was said that it was doubtful that Mack would be seen in active harness for a long time to come. But he recuperated rapidly in Canada, and not long afterward was able to return to California.

Aside from his marital experiences, Mack has had one of the most picturesque careers in stage annals. His real name is Charles W. McLaughlin.

Georgetown graduate, he worked on Canadian ranches and toured the world before he attracted notice as an actor in the West. He has written several plays and many one act sketches and film scenarios. Two years ago he filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $47,041 and no assets.

After his marriage last Winter to Mrs. Stone it was said several of his former wives telegraphed him their congratulations.

WINTHROP JEWS RENEW CLIFF HOUSE PROBE

Charges that the Jewish people of Winthrop were being used as pawns in a skillful game of politics were today made by leaders of that race as an aftermath of the riotous mass meeting held in Temple Israel last Sunday evening.

The meeting was called to protest the action of the Cliff House in requesting Mrs. Alfred Kann to leave because she was a Jewess, and to demand an apology from that hostelry for its action.

Instead of securing an apology, a large number of Winthrop Jews declare that the lid was clamped on all discussion, that certain affidavits from the Cliff House were read denying charges of prejudice against the Jews, and a further denial that Mrs. Kann ever was asked to leave the hotel was made.

SAY MEETING "FIXED."

As a result these Jews feel today they did not get the apology due them, because politics were played. an attempt was made to "fix" the meeting, and to allay their indignation against Wallace Tibbets, trustee of the Cliff House, and candidate for State Senator from Winthrop.

Such was the basis of charges made by George Epstein, secretary of the Young Men's Hebrew Association of Winthrop.

"We want to get to the bottom of this whole matter," declared Epstein. "We want to know if politics have been played by Aaron Allen in attempting to put the lid on discussion at Sunday's meeting.

"We want to know why a secret meeting, which was attended by Wallace Tibbets, was held last Friday night in the home of Louis Rudgin-sky, in the Highlands section.

CALL ANOTHER MEETING

"The Young Men's Hebrew Association does not play politics, and it will not permit any one in the organization to use that organization for political purposes.

"We have called a special meeting of the board of directors of the Young Men's Hebrew Association of Winthrop for next Thursday night to ascertain if politics have been played in the matter of this controversy, and if they have to put a quietus on those playing them.

"We are going to demand that the letters of Mrs. Kann, purporting to quote her as denying she was asked to leave the hotel, as well as the affidavits, be photographed and copies circulated.

Y. W. H. A. CO-OPERATES

Co-operating with the Y. M. H. A. of Winthrop is the Young Women's Hebrew Association, who declare that they will stand by their brothers in any action they take.

Four young members of that organization—Evelyn Levine, Florence Levenson, Ethel Epstein and Helen Benjamin, today declared they would push the matter of the Cliff House incident until an apology was made for the insult offered their race in asking Mrs. Kann to leave the OPPONENTS EXPLAIN.

Miss Emma Allen, brother of Aaron Allen, whose attempt to close Sunday's meeting after he had read the affidavits from the Cliff House and Mrs. Kahn's letters brought forth a riot, gave out the following statement:

"First, let me say, a committee was appointed by the Winthrop Jewish Community to investigate the Cliff House incident, with a view to demanding an apology if any offence had been given to our race.

ADMIT REQUEST TO QUIT.

"We met at Mr. Rudginsky's home and discussed the incident. That was Friday evening. Wallace Tibbets, the trustee of the Cliff House and candidate for senator, was invited, that he might have an opportunity to present his side of the case. He did.

"Tibbetts first denied that it was the policy of the Cliff House to discriminate against the Jews; second, denied that Mrs. Kann had been asked to leave because she was a Jew (she was asked to leave merely because of the unpleasantness following the attitude of the other guests), and third, denied that the Cliff House ever in any of its statements said the Jews were obnoxious.

"We also received a letter from Mrs. Kann denying she had been requested to leave.

"There was the explanation—a perfectly satisfactory one.

"Then the politicians got busy and made trouble. And that is the whole story. We refused to let the meeting continue, as it was the avowed intent of some to turn it into a political gathering."

Peruvian embassy at Washington. He is a great bull fighter. I fear him."

The police official attempted to explain that the protection of the woman from her diplomat was a matter for the Boston authorities to take care of. Particularly in view of the fact that the husband was not there at the moment.

The fire-eyed complainant insisted that she was entitled to protection and was going to get it. The copper was about to call the Attorney-General for advice when in strutted Don Mariano. Did he wear the picturesque pantaloons, boots and spurs of his native Peruvian heath he would have been a ringer for Rodolph Valentino.

He was a tall, strong, fine looking chap, with black eyes that flashed as he confronted his wife.

The police draw a veil over the scene which followed. It is sufficient to say that Don Mariano insisted it was he, not his wife, who required protection. He who had gored bulls was afraid of his wife.

He was duly advised that Boston was the place to settle the affair.

They left in the chummy roadster.

Investigation disclosed that in 1919 Don Mariano and his equally picturesque brother, Domingo, came to Boston from their father's huge plantations in Peru. Both enrolled at Harvard, and were there for a short time when they announced they were looking for a couple of donnas, and they were to be American donnas, for the American donna was the ultimate in donnas.

Mash notes came by the bushel. It seemed that every eligible young woman in Greater Boston wanted to go to that dear Peru and watch Don Marinno and Don Domingo—either or both—throw the bull.

There the record ceased.

WHAT TO MAKE OF IT?

Is the mysterious Mrs. Laos of the chummy roadster one of the women who wrote adoring notes?

That is to be found out. But it is known that a Mr. and Mrs. Marino Laos were registered some time ago in the Ritz Carlton, Back Bay, and that recently they moved from there to the Buckminster.

As to the diplomatic angle, Washington reported that it was true that Don Mariano had recently been appointed an attache at the Peruvian Embassy. As recently as two months ago, in fact.

But Don Mariano had not shown up to work since the appointment. The embassy doesn't know what to make of it.

Neither do we.

THRONG IN ROME SEE BLESSING OF STATUE

Rome, Sept. 6 (By the Associated Press).—Pope Pius today solemnly blessed and crowned the new statue of the Madonna of Loretto. In the Sistine Chapel in the presence of a vast throng, placing upon the statute a solid gold crown. The Sistine choir intoned the Salve Regina, while the Noble, Swiss and Palatine guards presented arms.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the statue was inclosed in a rosewood case with glass panels and taken to the papal automobile which carried it in a procession to the basilica of the Church of Santa Maria Maggiore.

to have taken place only a short time after the now famous order of Commissioner Wilson was promulgated, promising a speedy official finish to any member of the department guilty of using intoxicants.

It is charged that Conroy, accompanied by a woman giving her name as Miss Smith of Roxbury, and Paul Kinston flashed through the confines of Nantasket in a racing automobile. A Metropolitan officer gave chase and placed Conroy under arrest after both had drawn their guns.

Conroy's companions accompanied him to the police station but were not detained. The patrolman, who for nearly three years has been connected with the Roxbury Crossing station, has a wife and three children living at Whitman.

REPRESENTATIVE AND POLICEMAN HURT

Policeman Edward J. MacDonald of the Roxbury Crossing station and Representative James A. Goode were injured today when the automobile in which they were riding overturned at the corner of Hillside and Pontiac streets, Roxbury. The two started out in Goode's machine to investigate a case and apparently struck a bump in the road. MacDonald was taken to the City Hospital and Goode, thought to be the least injured at first, was taken home where it was found that in addition to being badly shaken up, he had a possible fracture of two ribs.

BILL TO CURB ACTS OF FEDERAL MEN

Washington, Sept. 5.—Any officer of the government who issues or causes to be issued "any illegal injunction, not in good faith and with the willful intent" of depriving a person of his rights or intimidating him, would be held to have committed malfeasance in office under a bill introduced today by Representative Huddleston, Democrat, Alabama.

JEWISH LABOR RAP OFFICIALS

Bitter denunciation of the administration and what was characterized as "an attempt of the government to subjugate workers by injunction methods," sympathy for the striking railroad workers, and condemnation of "protected strike-breakers" was expressed in a resolution drawn up and accepted with cheers by several hundred West End citizens at an open air labor meeting in Causeway square.

The meeting was under the auspices of the Jewish Workers Society. S. Regensberg was chairman of the meeting. Walter S. Hutchins, Socialistic candidate for Governor, President Murray of the Letter Carriers Union and other prominent labor leaders spoke at the meeting.

The reception was planned merely as a friendly greeting to the candidate and his wife and is not designed to aid the candidate's political campaign.

GREEKS FLEE; TURKS SEIZE CHRISTIANS

Rome, Sept. 3.—The Greek army is sacking towns and laying waste to the countryside as it falls back along the Anatolian battle front. The Turks are reported to be retaliating by seizing Christians.

By the Associated Press.

Smyrna, Sept. 5.—The Greek troops, according to advices from the front, are refusing to make any stand against the advancing Turkish nationalists. It is feared that unless the British and the French take energetic action serious events may occur in Smyrna.

British subjects are to be embarked on British steamers in Smyrna Harbor.

Consul-General Horton of the United States is looking after American interests and will, if necessary, place the fifty or sixty American residents of Smyrna on board American vessels, including destroyers, which are expected from Constantinople. The French cruiser Ernest Renan has arrived here.

Greeks Fail to Make Resistance

By the Associated Press.

Constantinople, Sept. 4. — The Greeks have ceased making any resistance to the Turkish Nationalist advance, fighting practically ceasing after the evacuation of Ushak, it appears from advices from the field of operations. The Greek rear guards are reported ten miles east of Alasherer, about eight miles east of Smyrna. The Turkish cavalry, with the exception of some advance cavalry forces, have lost contact with the enemy.

It is considered doubtful whether the Greeks can hold Alasherer, which is one of the most important bulwarks of the road to Symrna.

The divisional comanders of the Fourth and Twelfth Divisions were both captured and these divisions lost quantities of material, guns and lorries.

POLICE ROUND UP MOONSHINE CACHE

The Dover street railroad yards have been the scene of numerous police cases involving drunkenness, and the police have been on the lookout for the source of supply. They got it in the arrest of Frank Godfrey of No. 11 Bradlee park. When arrested Bradlee had a five gallon jug and twelve half pints of moonshine. He admitted he was selling the stuff to the men in the yards. Arraigned in the Roxbury court today he was fined $100.

41 YOUNG GIRLS OF GREATER BOSTON ARE MISSING WITHOUT TRACE

JAZZ AND LIQUOR BLAMED

Police Officials Say the Problem Grows Darker Day by Day

Forty-one mothers and forty-one fathers of Greater Boston are nursing broken hearts today because of lost daughters.

Somewhere in the world—far from parental firesides—are forty-one Greater Boston girls.

These heart-broken parents are hoping and praying that the girls are still alive. Deep down in their hearts, however, the sorrowing mothers and fathers have the constant fear that their loved ones have ended it all by suicide—or that a worse fate has befallen them.

According to Boston police officials, the missing girl problem is growing day by day. During the year of 1921 a total of 643 girls, ranging from fifteen to twenty-five years of age, disappeared in Greater Boston. All but twenty-three of these girls have been located—some dead, some alive and happy, others bowed in shame.

200 GIRLS ARE MISSING.

To date this year of 1922 an even 200 Greater Boston girls have dropped from sight. Through the police and the newspapers all but eighteen have been located. Of the 1922 crop there is the same story—death for some, happiness for some and a life of shame, brought on by drugs and drink, for others.

Jazz, booze, men, love of pretty clothes, longing for excitment, too strict parental discipline, too lax parental discipline, all these have been blamed for the tragedies.

Among the girls reported missing is pretty 16-year-old Lillian Rosetti of Everett. Lillian left home a short time ago, presumably to go to work. She failed to return. A letter postmarked Boston was received by the girl's parents saying she was with a sister.

Late hours at night caused the disappearance of Lillian, according to her parents. They remonstrated and Lillian left the house.

STAR AND MATE IN STUDIO MYSTERY

The husband of the popular film and theatrical star was mysteriously wounded at Jack Clifford's movie and stage camp in New York State. He is in a serious condition in the hospital with a pistol bullet still in his body. An investigation of the strange shooting case is now under way.

FIND DYING MAN KNEELING ON SAND PILE

Lawrence, Sept. 5.—A man believed to be George E. Wynn of this city, was found kneeling on a pile of sand near Whitman street and Broadway today by Patrolman Henry V. Murray with only a faint trace of life beating through him. He was taken to the Lawrence General Hospital where he died.

He is described as weighing 225 pounds, six feet in height, sandy gray streaked hair and mustache. He wore a coat of oxford gray and mixed gray trousers. In his pocket was found a key ring with three small rings attached. He had a black bow tie and a white soiled stripped shirt and tan shoes. His collar was size seventeen.

He gave every appearance of a well-bred business man.

PEGGY MARSH'S STORY PROBED IN SHOOTING

Plattsburg, N. Y., Sept. 5.—Albert L. "Buddy" Johnson still lay in a dangerous condition today in Champlain Valley Hospital here from the bullet wound in his abdomen which he received last Thursday in the presence of his wife, Peggy Marsh Johnson, actress and dancer.

State police, under Sergeant Boyce, endeavored to make a thorough inquiry into the shooting in order to reconcile conflicting stories that have been told.

Later Boyce admitted that, despite these conflicting versions, he was unable to shake the story of accidental shooting, as told by Peggy Marsh, and that unless new evidence was disclosed that State police investigation would have to be halted where it stood.

Johnson's wound was received in a room of the lodge known as Camp Jack, leased from Jack Clifford, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw's former husband. Miss Marsh said Johnson was cleaning a revolver when it accidentally exploded.

Jack Clifford declared he gave first aid to Johnson, and placed the time of the shooting at about 11 o'clock at night, whereas Peggy said it happened in the afternoon.

MOTOR DRIVEN OCEAN LINERS NEW PLAN

New York, Sept. 5.—Motor driven ocean liners are likely to be the next development in trans-oceanic travel, according to Captain J. P. Holst, who arrived on the Frederick VIII in port today. Two lines of motor freighters started as experiments are great successes, he said. Ships run by motors have no funnels, he explained. Plans are under way now to build an ocean liner equipped with a diesel engine generating 15,000 horsepower.

REPORT CHURCHMEN EXECUTED IN RUSSIA

Riga, Sept. 5.—It is reported from Moscow that Archbishop Benjamin, Metropolitan of Petrograd, and the others condemned for interfering with the seizure of church treasures, were executed by a firing quad in Petrograd on August 10. Another report is that M. Klmoffeff, one of the leaders of the social revolutionists who was tried recently in Moscow, has hanged himself in prison.

CHAPLIN'S LEADING WOMAN TO BE STAR

New York, Sept. 5.—Edna Purviance, popular film star, is to have a company of her own after 11 years as "second fiddle" to Charles Chaplin. Miss Purviance has appeared opposite Mr. Chaplin in nearly all his films. She first gained fame in his company six years ago. After a long fight for recognition the young lady was decided to make a try herself with a company all her own.

RIM HIKER DECLARES BOSTON HIS BEST HOST

Leonard Day, San Francisco author journalist, delighted with the hospitality of Boston, set out for Portland today on the last half of his 10,000 mile hike around the rim of the country. Day, penniless and forbidden by the conditions of his walk to solicit more than a drink of water and a match while proving the generosity of the American public, left Boston with a new pair of trousers, new socks, new shirt, and enough cigarettes to last him for the next thousand miles. The author and his dog, Radio, have been the guests of the Mason street fire house during their Boston stay. Before he left Day said that Boston had been the most hospitable city he had visited.

FINISHES MUSIC FOR 'MERCANT OF VENICE'

Los Angeles, Sept. 5.—Norman O'Neill, famous British composer, has just completed the score for David Belasco's production, "The Merchant of Venice," which will soon be shown in all sections of the country. Mr. O'Neill will make the trip to America before the show opens and personally conduct the orchestra for the first few nights. He has written the music for many of the recent shows in this country.

G. W. Duffy Recovering

George W. Duffy, prominent in Elk circles in Brockton, who was rushed from his Scituate home to the hospital last week, is reported to be on the road to recovery following an operation for stomach trouble. Shortly after Duffy was taken from his home in Scituate, a daughter was born to his wife.

MINERS READY TO SIGN, THEN RUSH COAL

Washington, Sept. 5.—President Harding was assured today by Senator Reed, Republican, of Pennsylvania, that the agreement reached in Philadelphia to settle the anthracite strike would be ratified tomorrow by the miners and that production would be resumed on a "very large scale" by the end of the week.

Senator Reed said there undoubtedly would be some radical opposition to the settlement proposal, but he was certain it would be approved by a wide margin. Nothing, he declared, has developed which might block ratification of the agreement.

Development of a plan whereby the voice of the public may be heard in conflicts between employer and employe, such as in the coal situation, was declared today by Secretary Hoover to be one of the most vital issues.

Discussion of means of anthracite distribution probably will be taken up at a conference here tomorrow, Mr. Hoover indicated. Priorities under the Interstate Commerce Commission's service order, he stated, give households preference in the shipment of anthracite.

MRS. JOSIAH QUINCY INJURED IN AUTO

Mrs. Josiah Quincy, widow of Mayor Quincy of Boston, and Mrs. Charles E. McGowan of No. 74 Foster street, Brighton, were injured and two men shaken up when their automobile overturned near Peterboro, N. H. Mrs. Quincy, her son, Edmund, and Mr. and Mrs. McGowan were on their way to a wedding in Derby. They were going down Temple Mountain road when the machine skidded on the slippery road. As the machine hit the edge of the road it overturned.

ONLY FRIENDLY WITH DIVORCED HUSBAND

New York, Sept. 5.—Friendliness to her divorced husband led to the unfounded rumors that Mrs. Lorraine Miller Graves was to be wed Robert Graves. Mr. Graves is a wealthy manufacturer and is prominent in club circles. Mrs. Graves is well-known in society. They were divorced some time ago but have been friendly during the past few months. Because they were seen together on various occasions, friends expected a reconciliation.

YALE PROFESSOR AT WALKER RALLY

A "Home Folks" rally for Joseph Walker, liberal Republican candidate for United States Senator against Henry Cabot Lodge, will be held in the Town Hall, Brookline, at 8 o'clock tonight.

Brookline is Mr. Walker's home town and it is expected that the rally will be one of the biggest of the primary campaign. Over 5,000 invitations have been issued to his fellow townsmen and women and the response indicates a big attendance.

Besides Mr. Walker, the speakers will include Professor Irving Fisher of Yale. Former Senator Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota, will stump the State for Mr. Walker.

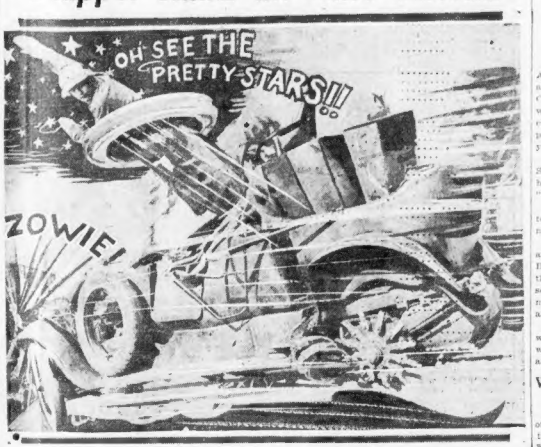
COLONEL IN BIELASKI CASE GETS 10 YEARS

Mexico City, Sept. 5 (By the Associated Press).—Colonel Enrique Goldbaum Padilla was found guilty early this morning by a military court martial of usurpation of authority in connection with the recent kidnapping episode of A. Bruce Bielaski, former head of the Bureau of Investigation of the American Department of Justice. Colonel Padilla was sentenced to ten years imprisonment.

40 ENTOMBED IN MINE EXPLOSION; 10 DEAD

Newcastle, Eng., Sept. 5 (By the Associated Press).—Forty men were entombed through an explosion in a coal pit at Whitehaven today, the Evening Chronicle states. The bodies of ten workers are reported to have been recovered.

It's Unlucky to Kill Catterpillars So Flapper Rams an Auto Instead



ZAM! CR-R-RUNCH! CRASH!

Somethin' went wrong. It was a nice car once; and now lookit the poor thing!

By THE FLAPPER (Caryl Frink)

"Whereja think y're going!" demanded the man in the other car, as he moved a 33 by 3 and ½ cord tire from around his neck and crawled out from the wreckage.

"To New London," I said. "Is this the right road?"

But my victim wasn't a bit of help.

"Look what you done!" he complained bitterly. "Lookit my new wire wheels all bent to pieces! And my new hood. It looks like a Japanese lantern. And my wife! Lookit her!"

"And your hat!" I said. "Lookit it!"

"Take her number, Andrew!" cried a voice from beneath the one-man top. "Don't stand there gabbin' with the 'dame.'"

"I'm tending t'this, mother'" replied Andrew with as much dignity as his hat would allow him to assume. "I'm gonna be very severe with her. Now see here, what is th' meaning of this?"

THINGS AIN'T SO SLOW.

"Well, migosh, what's the usea hollering over spilt gasoline," I said. "D'ya think I meant to hit you, silly? A person can't help skidding."

"You didn't skid," ranted Andrew, almost in tears by new. "You chased me, that's what you did."

"Quit talking so much, Andrew, and call the police," cried Andrew's wife.

By this time the countryside around Providence had been aroused and had rallied to the scene of the loud smash. In their yellow slickers and hats they looked like a bunch of oneeda biscuit ads.

"Here's another one, Sam," joyously cried Captain January. "Purty good, hey?"

"Ha, Ha," chortled his companion, Captain February.

"That makes seven this week. I guess nobody can say things are slow out here."

"What's the idea, I said, loudly. "You think this is funny?"

GOSH, IT'S THE SHERIFF!

"We call this dead man's carve," giggled Captain March. "On Sundays we sometimes have as many as twent' or thirt' accidents. I tell ya, Whee here comes the sheriff!"

Sure enough, there was the sheriff, star, airgun an' all.

"How'd this here happen?" the sheriff asked, sternly.

"Ask her," insisted Andrew.

"It was her idea."

"Yes," insisted Andrew's hysterical half, "She's spoiled our week-end, and I had such a nice lunch packed. Tongue sandwiches and—"

"It was this way, officer," I said. "I was drivin' along minding my own business and thinking my own thoughts, when all of a sudden I looked ahead on the road and saw a poor little catterpillar. If I hadn't jerked my car around suddenly I would have crushed the poor little caterpillar to death."

SURE, IT'S UNLUCKY!

"A likely story," snorted the good wife of Andrew.

"It's the truth," I said with dignity.

"But why," insisted the gendarme, "did you save the life of the caterpillar, are you that fond of them?"

"No," I said. "It wasn't that. I hate the beasts."

"Then why—" even Andrew was interested.

"Because," I said. "It's bad luck to kill 'em. That's why."

LAWYER QUIT AS COPS SHOWED UP

That a Worcester attorney was their escort, who fled when a Back Bay patrolman broke up an altercation on Newbury street, was charged by three women arraigned in Roxbury court today.

The case was continued while the police investigated the man.

The women, arraigned on drunk charges, pleaded not guilty. They gave their names as Florence Staffman, Maybelle Lafler and Alice Reed of Boston. According to Patrolman Rielly, who arrested them late last night, the three women and a man were engaged in boisterous altercation on Newbury street. He said a man ran away from the trio as he approached.

GALLAGHER GETS HIGHER POST

Colonel Hugh J. Gallagher, depot quartermaster, has been assigned as quartermaster supply officer and superintendent of the army transportation service, Brooklyn, N. Y., relieving Major-General W. H. Hart, who has been appointed quartermaster-general.

Colonel Gallagher was graduated from West Point in 1894. He was a member of the first general staff and is on the eligible list of the present general staff. He was chief commissary in General Shafter's army at Santiago, chief commissary in General Chaffee Boxer movement, chief quartermaster A. E. F., in Siberia, and depot quartermaster at Atlanta. He has several foreign decorations.

He will be succeeded at the army base by Colonel H. E. Symser, who was at the Boston depot during the Spanish War.

RELIGIOUS RIOTS STIR CALCUTTA

Calcutta, India, Sept. 5.—Serious religious riots between Hindues and Mohammedans were reported from the interior today.

ANOTHER SLAIN IN BLACK HAND WARFARE

New York, Sept. 5.—The Italian bootleggers' war claimed another victim in Brooklyn today. This brings the total of deaths since the feud began to nearly a score.

The victim, evidently about fifty years of age, was found wrapped in a quilt lying in a gutter in the centre of Brooklyn's "Little Italy." The body was attired in expensive clothing, but there was nothing in the pockets through which identification could be obtained.

A policeman noticed the bundle and was about to pass it by when his suspicions were aroused. Examination showed the man had been shot, stabbed and beaten. The police believe the boy was dumped from an automobile.

LIFE OF PARTY IS FINED AS DRUNK

Joseph Milligan of Cottage road, Newton, appeared at a lawn party in that city and turned gayety into consternation. He insisted on dancing with the prettiest girls, and when objection was offered, broke up the party. In Newton Court today he paid $10 for being drunk and $5 for disturbing the peace.

Rafele Cedrone of No. 374 Watertown street, Newton, was given three months suspended sentence and paid a $50 fine for assault and battery on John Stocci of Hawthorn street, Newton. Cedrone was convicted of slashing Stocci with a razor.

George Stacey of Dayton, O., who claimed he walked from his home to Newton in search of work, was sentenced to the State Farm for an indefinite period as a vagrant.

SAVES A COP, THEN BEATS ANOTHER

Saturday morning Michael Murphy rescued a policeman from a gang that was beating him up on Lamson street, East Boston. Saturday night Mike himself beat up an officer in Charlestown. He was arrested and arraigned in the Charlestown Court before Judge Sullivan on a charge of drunkenness and of assault and battery on Officer William Troy of the Charlestown station. The drunk charge was placed on file and a sentence of two months in the House of Correction was suspended on condition that he make $31 restitution for the damage done to the officer's uniform in the scuffle. The court was lenient with Murphy because of his heroic action of Saturday morning.

RICHARD CROKER, JR., TO LIVE IN IRELAND

Dublin, Sept. 5.—Richard Croker, Jr., son of the late New York Tammany chief, arrived here today. He will make his future home in Ireland, as his father did.

GIRL CHARGES HER LIFE WAS THREATENED

John Sanjean, president of the Armenian Republican Association, and a professed friend of Governor Cox and other Republican chieftains, was in Municipal Court today charged with threatening death to pretty Edna Burrows, twenty-one years old, a saleswoman.

His case continued for two weeks, Sanjean in the corridor of the court house charged that many cases were "framed" there.

Pressed by Inspector Kilday as to his meaning, Sanjean said he had no reference to his own case.

According to testimony Sanjean's attentions became distasteful to Miss Burrows, who refused to have anything more to do with him. In consequence he walked into the department store where she is employed, and threatened to take her life.

Inspectors Kilday and Donovan were sent to the store and Sanjean was placed under arrest. He lives at No. 287 Salem street, Medford.

WAR VETERAN WINS BRIDE BY TELEGRAPH

Gloucester, Sept. 5.—A romance of the World War, carried on over the telegraph wire, culminated in the marriage of Miss Helena DeCoste of this city to Robert M. Graham of Atlanta, Ga.

The marriage was performed at the parochial residence of St. Ann's Catholic Church by Rev. Father William J. Dwyer, and the couple left for a honeymoon in the South. The bride was employed in the local office of the Western Union and the groom was chief operator at the Charlestown Navy Yard. Miss DeCoste and Graham became acquainted early in the war, the acquaintance being renewed after the young man returned from two years' service overseas.

ODD FELLOWS MEET IN CONVENTION

Delegates to the seventh biannual convention of the Manchester Unity Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows met today in a closed session in Chipman Hall, Tremont Temple. Welcomes of the city and State were given by Mayor Curley and Governor Cox. Alfred Goodwin, deputy grand master, was elected grand master for the next two years. Business sessions will be continued tomorrow. Delegates and their guests will be banqueted tonight at Convention Hall.

TO CELEBRATE MARNE AND LAFAYETTE

Mayor Curley has completed arrangements for celebrating the 165th anniversary of the birth of Lafayette and the eighth anniversary of the battle of the Marne, both of which fall tomorrow. The exercises will take place at noon at the Parkman bandstand on the Common, the Mayor presiding. The guest of honor will be Colonel Dumont, military attache of the French Embassy at Washington. J. J. Flammand, the French consul at Boston, General Clarence R. Edwards and other notables will be present. There will be music, the recitation of a French poem by Rene H. Gingras, a student at Boston College, and Rev. Joseph P. Sollier will pronounce the benediction.

SIX LOWELL FAMILIES DRIVEN OUT BY FIRE

Lowell, Sept. 5.—Six families fled in the street in night clothing from fire in the tenement block No. 453 to 459 Market street early today. No one was injured, although several narrowly escaped hot air explosions in a restaurant.

Firemen were driven back by the intense heat and several pieces of apparatus were blistered by flames.

Harry Demaris, owner of the block and restaurant, estimated the loss at $8,000, a large part due to water.

65 MORE VETS PUT TO WORK BY MAYOR

Mayor Curley today signed an order placing sixty-five more World War veterans at work on the East Boston tunnel improvements in Maverick square, East Boston. The total of veterans who have been employed on this work from time to time during the Summer now number approximately 1,490.

GASTON EVEN WITH WHIPPLE

recognition on the history of past service had brought to him a total of sixty votes. Professor Sharp was still running No. 4 in the field of four candidates for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator.

FIGURES ARE CLOSE.

The American's straw ballot brings to the candidates themselves and to their loyal workers the first definite information of the present closeness of the race between the famous lawyer and the Colonel.

Wherever the friends of the pair —as well as the rooters of all the other candidates—assembled today the absorbing topic of conversation was the Whipple-Gaston derby.

As it is the most important epoch in the lives of both Messrs. Whipple and Gaston, they certainly can be expected to launch a great spurt in a sensational attempt to race each other off their feet. But a single week of campaigning remains.

Mr. Whipple has had for years the desire to retire from private practice and to devote the remaining years of his life to public service. In his most recent State-wide campaign, when he stood as an Initiative and Referendum delegate for the constitutional convention, he ran well with the liberal leaders of all parties, took his seat in the convention and there delivered one of the most potent arguments for the I. and R.

Colonel Gaston enjoys the keeping of the traditions of a family that has always been prominent in the public service. The Gastons were Governors of the great Commonwealth. He himself has won the Democratic nomination for Governor in the past and has campaigned the State at other times when the nomination happened to be just out of reach.

Both Whipple and Gaston are firmly convinced that general dissatisfaction with Washington affairs is going to cause the people of Massachusetts to send another Democrat to fight at the side of David I. Walsh and they can be relied upon to race down the primary homestretch with all the energy and intelligence at their command.

WALKER PICKS UP.

Meanwhile, the American straw ballot shows that Joseph Walker is picking up a bit in the race he runs against Henry Cabot Lodge on the adjoining Republican track.

Up to today, Walker had been polling about one vote in ten. But he has now picked up a total of 102 to the 315 votes of the senior Senator. In the Commonwealth's nine auto districts, for example, where fifty-three Republican votes were cast, thirty-nine were credited to Mr. Walker.

John F. Fitzgerald maintained a strong lead in the Boston trade and business sections over his Democratic rivals for Governor. He had a total of 238. Messrs. Ely, Foss and Sullivan were today far in the rear. It is interesting that but two votes separated the three of them. The vote was: Ely, 66; Foss, 58; Sullivan, 57. It was said that Mayor Curley's reported decision to favor Mr. Foss might increase the former Governor's vote when other sections of the city are reached.

Mr. Pelletier is still out in front. But his lead is not quite so high as it was on Saturday, when the jurists of the town learned for the first time that Supreme Court decision or no Supreme Court decision, the Democratic voters were showing a marked interest in Mr. Pelletier's candidacy, according to the straw ballot.

COX HEADS ALLAN.

Governor Cox was leading Mr. Allen by a vote of 278 to 150. But here, as in the Pelletier case, the Governor's lead was not quite so impressive as on Saturday. The Stock Exchange showed no preference for either, the vote there being 7 to 7.

Harold D. Wilson is runing second to Assistant Attorney-General Jay R. Benton for Republican Attorney-General. Thomas C. O'Brien seems to be walking away with the Republican nomination for District-Attorney.

COUNTED WITH CARE.

The care with which the ballots are sorted to avoid error in tabulating them was demonstrated at the Devonshire-Summer street balloting the boxes. Three of them were blanks, the voters evidently not caring to express a choice favorable to any of the candidates. Seventeen were voided because the voters failed to obey the injunction to vote in only one column.

You must remember that this is in a primary election. Whether we like it or not, the primary law passed by the Legislature says that we must vote in but one political party.

This might be a good time to remind you also that a week from today when you go to your precinct you will have to enroll in either the Republican or Democratic party if you want to vote. That is, unless you are already enrolled. A good many of our people don't like party enrollment. They want to be free lances, with the right to help nominate the candidates that appear to be best in both parties.

But we cannot do that. Again, it is the law, whether we like it or not. The old statute books provide that we must ask for either a Republican, or a Democratic ballot. We are accordingly enrolled in the party for whose ballot we ask.

The American's straw ballot doesn't go that far, of course. The ballot has two columns, one Republican, the other Democratic. The voter, in absolute secrecy, can vote in either column he wishes. But be careful to keep in one column. Painful as it is to us, we will have to throw out the ballot unless it conforms to the requirements.

More figures today. More tomorrow. More every day until the primaries.

Whipple Favors Measure to Prevent Child Labor

If Federal legislation is not sufficient, Sherman Whipple, candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, will advocate an amendment to the Constitution of the United States to prevent the employment of children in mines and industries.

This is the candidate's answer to the first question in the questionaire sent to all political candidates by the Massachusetts State Branch of the American Federation of Labor.

MATTER OF JUSTICE.

To the query, "What is your attitude relative to the adjusted compensation for soldiers, sailors and marines?" Mr. Whipple answers that he is strongly in favor of such legislation and that, in his opinion, the legislation is a matter of simple justice, already too long delayed.

The employment of children in mines and industries is a wrong only comparable with slavery, Mr. Whipple says. "No argument is needed to show that it should be completely eradicated," he continues.

FAVORS LIGHT BEER.

The candidates' answers to the other questions are in part:

"What is your attitude on the modification of the Volstead act?"

Answer—"It is my belief that the provisions of this act should be liberalized. I favor a law providing for the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer with an alcoholic content, the most liberal possible, within the terms of the amendment."

"What is your attitude on the governmental policy in regard to the railway and coal strikes?"

Answer: "It is the plain duty of the government to intervene in such a situation promptly and effectively for the protection of the public."

FOR EIGHT-HOUR LAW.

"What is your attitude on the Esch-Cummins bill?"

Answer: "The Esch-Cummins bill has proved unsatisfactory in many respects."

"Are you in favor of strict enforcement of the Adamson Eight-Hour Law?"

Answer: "The provisions of the Adamson law, reasonably and fairly interpreted, should be strictly enforced and not evaded."

"Would you vote for governmental control and ownership of the railroads?"

Answer: "It is my belief that ultimately the great railroad systems of the country will go into government ownership. I do not think, however, that the country is at the moment prepared for such a drastic step."

AGAINST TOWNER BILL.

"Are you in favor of the Sterling-Towner educational bill?"

Answer: "No."

"Would you vote for a constitutional amendment that would make it impossible for the United States Supreme Court to override the expressed will of the citizens of the country?"

Answer—"A vote to take away from the Supreme Court this power would be, in effect, a vote to nullify the constitution. It would strike at the very foundation of our government. There is, however, a real and effective remedy which arises when the court has delivered unconstitutional a law which the people desire to have in effect; and that is by amendment of the constitution."

DRUNKEN DRIVERS HEAVILY FINED

Three men were heavily fined by Judge Reeve in Lynn Court today on charges of drunkenness and operating automobiles while under the influence of liquor.

W. J. Matherson, No. 25 Brooks street, Somerville, was assessed $175. It was charged that while drunk he was in collision with an auto owned by Charles D. Addison of Swampscott.

Alfred J. Smith, No. 11 Shortell avenue, Beverly, was fined a like amount after a collision with a machine driven by Everett W. Hallo of Euclid avenue, Lynn.

David S. Bergden, Oxford street, Lynn, was fined $125 on the same charge.

JURORS HEAR H. V. GREENE INVESTORS

Today's investigation of the Henry V. Greene and subsidiary companies, by special Grand Jury, dealt with the investors' phase.

A number of investors were on hand to testify as witnesses, several of them having pathetic stories, according to report.

Among those called and who were present today were:

Mrs. Georgia A. McCullough, No. 31 Hollis street, Boston; Delia W. Harmon, No. 9 Chauncy place, Jamaica Plain; Laura Morris, No. 26 Huntington avenue; Mary C. McDonough, No. 54 Peacevale road, Dorchester; Miss A. M. Archibald, No. 111 Milk street, Boston; Mrs. Tootie Gusoski, Easton avenue, Hyde Park.

Mrs. Mary F. Ward, No. 74 Florida street, Ashmont; Morris Abeams, No. 3 Pace street, Dorchester; John A. Nicholson, agent, No. 19 Rosemont road, Dorchester; George Pantzinino, No. 129 Hudson street, Boston; Henry T. Dorney, No. 82 South Huntington avenue, Boston; Frank J. O'Neil, No. 11 Leon street, Roxbury.

F. M. Gilman, No. 1132 Washington street, Milton, excused for illness; Frank Pelton, agent, No. 2286 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge; Patrick Haggerty, No. 106 Sycamore street, Somerville and Adolph Rebibski, No. 24 Garfield avenue, Hyde Park.

These witnesses were to be heard after those called last week and who had not appeared, had testified. Today's proceedings are said to deal with the most important part of the investigation.

The first witness called today was Mrs. Gertrude French, former bookkeeper for the Commercial Finance Corporation. She was on hand the first day of the investigation but was not reached until today.

Mrs. French was followed by Receiver Reed of the Massachusetts Motors, Inc. Other new witnesses were Louis Magidson, No. 8 Beacon stret, and Walter J. Dwyer, No. 15 Hickerstaff street, with a number of insurance men. They included Geoffrey C. Notley, of Field & Cowles Co., William H. Plummer of E. A. Lord Co., and Mr. Broderick of Taylor, Carney & Loeffler Co.

Filene's Filene's Filene's

Ten Years at Filene's

Being an accounting of our first decade of stewardship

TEN years ago today we threw wide the doors of the then new Filene store.

Brave words were spoken and written at that time. "The public," we said, "wants to know and has a right to know" what this new structure means to New England.

We hold these words sacred. The public shall know how far we have been able to realize the "greater opportunities for service" that this building represented to us then---September, 1912.

DURING the next few days we propose to present a formal report covering the last decade in the Filene store---a report from us, the servers---to you, the served.

Each day's newspaper will carry a chapter of "Ten years at Filene's." Adjectives will be conspicious by their absence. Cold facts and plain figures will prevail. We hope you will find them interesting, perhaps instructive.

WE make no apologies for departing in this way from the stereotyped method of celebrating a store birthday.

Years ago we outgrew the thought that spasmodic value-giving in the form of an "Anniversary Sale" stood for real store service.

Today the Filene ideal reads "Fullest value for the money---not for an hour, a day or a week---not for a favored few---but for all the people all the time."

And so, with your permission, we propose to celebrate this eventful date in Filene annals in this different way---this better way.

Read Chapter 2---tomorrow.

A feature of the Filene Anniversary will be the Parade of Fall Fashions to be held in the Copley-Plaza ballroom afternoons and evenings, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, September 11, 12 and 13. Among the Attractions will be an exhibition of ballroom dancing by Elizabeth Hines, now starring in "Little Nellie Kelly." Cards of admission may be had on application at Personal Service Bureau, street floor balcony, and Information Desk, sixth floor.

UNION LEADER DEFIES COURT, MAKES SPEECH

By International News Service.

Washington, Sept. 5.—The gage of battle was thrown down today to the Harding administration and the Federal courts by William H. Johnston, president of the International Association of Machinists, 85,000 of whose men are involved in the railroad strike.

Standing on the rostrum at striking meeting forbidden under the terms of the injunction granted Friday in Chicago by Federal Judge Wilkerson, Johnston called the writ a "big noise" and declared he proposed to stand on his "inalienable constitutional rights."

Jewell Sends Message in Face of Injunction

By International News Service.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—A vigorous statement urging the rank and file of the striking shopmen to stand firm and rely upon themselves, and themselves alone, in the fight being waged was sent out today by B. M. Jewell, leader of the striking shopmen.

"We don't seem to be able to get justice and adequate food, clothing and shelter from the railroad management or from the President, Congress or the Railroad Labor Board," declared the message. "We have tested out those means long and earnestly. We must therefore rely on ourselves and ourselves alone."

This message, though sent out today, was written on the day Attorney General Daugherty secured the injunction against the striking shopmen. It is believed at strike headquarters no violation of the injunction is made by sending out the message. The message continues with a declaration that "if we stand solid we will win."

"Notwithstanding all the suppression and oppression, your threats and promises, your cunning and scheming you are licked to the queen's taste and you and all your associates know it," the message says to railroad executives.

Report Ten Strikers Admit Three Murders

Memphis, Sept. 5.—Ten railroad strikers under arrest here have confessed to participating in three murders and to an attempt to wreck a Frisco passenger train, the police announced today.

The confession and arrests are said to have been made following the capture of four men charged with killing Charles Lanier, a strikebreaker.

HURLED OUT OF AUTO, GIRL LEFT TO DIE

Larchmont, N. Y., Sept. 5.—Mercedes Ramirez, sixteen years old and a resident of Porto Rico, was found dying by the roadside in this city. Tony Sganga, a wealthy commission merchant with offices here, is under arrest in connection with the affair. The police claim that the girl either jumped or was thrown from the man's car when she tried to avoid his unwelcome attentions.

TWO POISONED BY BOOZE AT CAMP DEVENS

Camp Devens, Sept. 5.—An attempt to flood this cantonment with poisonous liquor was nipped by the arrest of five young men, all civilians, who were seized with an automobile loaded with moonshine.

The arrests were made following the poisoning of two men of Company E, 181st Infantry, M. N. G., who are now in the military hospital in a serious condition from drinking the liquor.

Those arrested gave their names as William F. Brown, twenty-nine years old, driver of the machine, and John Rabbitt, twenty-one years old, both of Natick; William Lavigne, fifteen years old, of Boston; Joseph Luca, fourteen years old, and Frank Cadillac, sixteen years old, both of Framingham.

An investigation revealed that the gang had been accustomed to park their car on the edge of the quarters of Company E. Runners were then sent through the cantonment notifying the soldiers that liquor could be procured from a certain automobile.

This information was obtained through a telephone call received by Lieutenant Samuel Elkins, after a thorough questioning of the men of Company E had been unsuccessful.

Acting on the information contained in the telephone call, Lieutenant Elkins led a detail to the spot where the car was parked, seizing it and placing the five young men under arrest. They were locked up in the guardhouse to be turned over to the Federal prohibition agents later.

The searching party found twelve pints of moonshine under the rear seat of the automobile and three pints in the pockets of Brown, owner and driver of the car, who was ringleader of the gang.

Cadillac, one of the youngsters in the party, declared he was not a member of the gang, but that he happened to be near the car when the raiding squad appeared.

MOVIE DIRECTOR SUES SECOND WIFE

Los Angeles, Sept. 5.—James Young, divorced husband of Clara Kimball Young, is suing his second wife, also separated from him, for a property settlement involving $55,000. The suit has been filed in the Los Angeles Superior Court. Mr. Young, who is a motion picture director, married Clara Whipple shortly after Clara Kimball Young obtained a final decree. He says that he was not aware at that time of the fraud, which he now claims has been practiced on him.

FIRST WEDDING IN TOWN IN 62 YEARS

East Brookfield, Sept. 5.—This town's record of sixty-two years without having launched one couple on the "sea of matrimony" was broken when Curtis E. Abbott, a World War veteran of Brookfield, was married to Miss Lydia Ireson Redman in the Baptist Church. Rev. George R. Locke performed the ceremony. It was the first wedding in the church since 1860.

Miss Vera C. Odell was the bridesmaid and Sumner Thomas best man. After a luncheon in the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Jeffrey Farrell, the couple left for a honeymoon trip in the White Mountains.

Hair Often Ruined by Careless Washing "Use Mulsified"

Soap should be used very carefully if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any pharmacy. It's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

Removes Hairy Growths Without Pain or Bother

USE DELATONE

(Modes of Today)

It is not necessary to use a painful process to remove hairy growths, for with a little delatone handy you can keep the skin entirely free from these hairy destroyers. To remove hair, make a stiff paste with a little powdered delatone and water. Spread this on the hairy surface and in about 2 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. To guard against disappointment, be careful to get real delatone. Mix fresh as wanted.

"THE BAT" IS BIG HIT AT WILBUR

By FRED J. McISAAC.
Dramatic Editor.

Of an entirely different genre from "The Nest," which I saw yesterday afternoon, was "The Bat," which I saw last evening at the Wilbur. Here is a theatrical and sensational melodrama with a vengeance. It's a play which has enjoyed an enormous success. It ran nearly two years in New York to packed houses, and which had six companies on the road last season. This year seven troupes will go out, I believe. The company at the Wilbur is the original New York cast.

"The Bat" is termed a mystery melodrama. Its purpose is to give the audience the creeps, send cold chills up and down their spines, make them jump up and down in their chairs and occasionally shriek. It succeeds in its purpose.

WIERD HAPPENINGS.

The knowledge that audiences will pay big money to be outraged in this manner has caused a whole crop of writers of this sort to be turned loose in New York, and most of them have also succeeded. Judging from the behavior of the Boston folks last night "The Bat" will pack the house for months to come.

From the beginning, when you see an old lady quietly knitting in an attractive sitting room, things happen continuously. In fact, the opening minute is the only quiet one. All sorts of wierd and curious incidents occur working up to pistol shots, murder and horror. The poor old lady on the stage and the audience share equally the excitement and the terror.

The funny thing about "The Bat" is that every antiquated and hoary device for thrills which the stage has been using for fifty years is utilized. The sophisticated showman could check off the heroin and so called "sure fire" stuff until he ran out of pencil and paper without getting half of it. But audiences are not composed of sophisticated showmen, and it doesn't matter what the ingredients of the broth may be; it's how it tastes.

SURPRISE A SECRET.

The only thing that worries the management of "The Bat" is that the audience will go out and tell the plot to its friends. Being a surprise melodrama, the surprise has to be kept a secret. That's why they urge the customers not to give the show away.

Harrison Hunter, who played the arrogant detective in "The Thirteenth Chair," heads the cast of "The Bat." Mr. Hunter is a very skilful performer in the sort of role which calls for a policeman, a burglar or other forceful profession. His clean cut diction, his rather commanding personality, combine to make him very effective in "The Bat."

Effie Ellsler, as the intrepid old lady who solves mysteries as one knits, is to be congratulated for creating an unusual and attractive character. And May Vokes, whose nitwitted housemaid has been one of the features of a score of shows, is still doing her act and delighting the audience out of its chairs. Aside from these three there is nothing remarkable about the cast. In fact, this sort of show has no such action it doesn't need much acting.

GLOBE THEATRE—A program of unusual attractiveness featured the inaugural opening of the new season at the Globe Theatre yesterday. The bill consisted of high grade feature photoplays and some excellent vaudeville numbers, and extended over a period of upwards of three hours. The specially pleasing element was the diversified nature of the entertainment, containing as it did an equal sprinkling of comedy, drama, singing and dancing.

WALDRON'S CASINO—Three-in-one type of continuous performances offering burlesque, motion pictures and vaudeville all on the same bill is proving the most popular of all theatrical entertainment offered in Boston. Yesterday enthusiastic audiences filled Waldron's Casino, where the three-in-one continuous performances are offered, and the beginning of the second big week of the theatre's reopening was met with an ovation. On this week's program "Sliding Billy" Watson appeared leading his own company in his "Big Four Show."

GORDON'S OLYMPIA — Gloria Swanson proved more charming than ever in her latest Paramount picture, "Her Gilded Cage," which was shown at Gordon's Olympia theatre last night. In this new Sam Wood production, Miss Swanson emerges, for a few episodes, from the conventional fashion creations which have caused her to become known as the fashion model of the screen, and appears in some pretty theatrical and dancing costumes which accentuate her beauty and lend her a fascination not before revealed.

GAIETY THEATRE—Like a series of vivid paintings in which the figures were animated the many scenes of "The Radio Girls" burlesque show were displayed to enthusiastic holiday audiences yesterday. Not often does the Columbia burlesque circuit produce a show of the gorgeousness and quality of "The Radio Girls." It is an elaborate vehicle in which the beauty of the music and the feminine members of the cast vie with the spectacular scenic effects for praise.

GORDON'S CENTRAL SQUARE—Vera Gordon and Dore Davidson again play a Jewish mother and father in another Fannie Hurst story—"The Good Provider," which delighted a large audience at Gordon's Central Square theatre last night.

"THE NEST" IS RARE PLAY OF MOTHER LOVE

By FRED J. McISAAC.
Dramatic Editor.

"The Nest," a translation from the French by Grace George, of Paul Geraldy's "Les Noces d'Argent" (Silver Wedding), was presented by William A. Brady at the Plymouth yesterday afternoon. It enjoyed a run in New York and a lot of complimentary notices from the critics of that city.

The theme is "mother love." We have had so many American plays in which Mother was held up to glorification that it is interesting to see a French variation upon the same theme. And the appearance of Effie Shannon as the mother of this play made it even more interesting.

PLAY RINGS TRUE.

They have their share of playwrights in Paris who grind out lurid and artificial plays, but fortunately for us these authors do not often get translated. It's a process of filtration from one language to another, and the product which comes through usually deserves to.

"The Nest" is a chapter out of the lives of a couple whose children have grown old enough to marry and start out for themselves. There is not any special tremendous dramatic scene in it, nothing theatrical or sensational from start to finish. It's just real and true and candid.

The emotions and sentiments of parents and children are the same in all languages. Grace George has been careful to preserve the original atmosphere of the play in every way, and yet there is not a second of the scenes between the French father and mother and the thoughtless son and daughter which is not thoroughly understandable and appreciable by Americans.

A HUMAN MOTHER.

Effie Shannon scorns the white wig and the apron of the American stage mother; she is a faded and rather pathetic French blonde, and you can see her age and wither before your eyes. Her scenes with her son, sowing his wild oats regardless, are remarkable for their naturalness and humanness.

Being less hypocritical than ourselves, this French playwright does not hesitate to show the reactions of the parents to the illicit love affairs of the boy. In fact, Miss Shannon's big scene is with the woman she thought her friend, but whom she discovers to be her son's mistress.

The remarkable thing about the play is its complete sincerity; the utter absence of any scene or sentiment which could be called theatrical. And Brady has cast it very well, all things considered. The acting of Frank Burbeck as the loving, but rather inarticulate father, was as sincere as the play. Humphrey Bogart, as the son, was very effective in an ungracious role. Diantha Pattison, as the young widow who initiated the boy into love, deserves a lot of credit for making her role, hateful to American audiences, understandable.

SCOLLAY SQUARE OLYMPIA—"The Loves of Pharaoh," a new Ernest Lubitsch production for Paramount, which was displayed at Gordon's Scollay Square Olympia last night, is a tremendous cinema spectacle—perhaps the most notable ever shown here.

Plays That Remain

TREMONT THEATRE—Geo. M. Cohan's "Little Nellie Kelly" began the last three weeks of its engagement at the Tremont last night with a crowded house.

SELWYN THEATRE—With humorous book and scintillating tunes, "Shuffle Along," the all-colored musical hit, which began the sixth week of its Boston run at the Selwyn Theatre last night, continues to break all records for attendance at this popular theatre.

COX AT SOMERVILLE THEATRE OPENING

With the presence of Governor Cox, Mayor Webster and Secretary of State Frederick W. Cook and other prominent State and city officials, the Somerville Players inaugurated their new season last night in a most auspicious manner. Manager MacArdle made a splendid selection in "East is West" as the inaugural attraction, as this great dramatic triumph served to clearly demonstrate the remarkable histrionic talents possessed by Mr. MacArdle's newly-assembled company headed by Harry Benham, a pronounced favorite of the stage and screen, and Mildred Wayne, a leading lady of undisputed ability and charm.

MUCH COMEDY ON BILL AT KEITH'S

The S. R. O. signs were out at both performances of the big holiday bill at B. F. Keith's Theatre yesterday.

Van and Schenck, "The Pennant Winning Battery of Songland," headed the bill with character songs.

Frank Van Hoven, "The Mad Magician," was a riot of fun. Will Mahoney, in "Why Be Serious," just wouldn't let anyone stop laughing. Lee Donnelly, with Ann Wimberly, in "Tis and 'Tisn't," and Florence Brady, "Winsome Comedienne," in "Miles of Smiles" furnished comedy.

Florence Cast, in "Little Driftwood," a one-act musical play of Greenwich Village, scored a big hit with her clever dancing.

"SALLY" BACK AGAIN AT COLONIAL

"Sally," undoubtedly the most popular musical comedy of the last ten years, reopened at the Colonial last night after a month's vacation.

During the interim Marilynn Miller went off and got married, Dolores went to Europe, other members of the cast amused themselves according to their bent, but they all reassembled at the Colonial last night.

It was really a brilliant evening. Never did Leon Errol or Walter Catlett get their stuff across better, while the blushing bride, Marilynn, got an ovation which must have astonished her.

ARLINGTON OPENS WITH NEW POLICY

"A Bridal Suite for Three," which had its premier at the Arlington Theatre on the holiday, was greeted by capacity houses at both performances. John Craig, managing director of the new company, believes this farce in three acts, by Dana Burnet, is destined to be put on by the "big time."

An excellent company has been assembled by Mr. Craig. Real artistry is required in the play, and the players are equal to the occasion. Frances Howard, the leading lady, became an instant favorite. She was ably supported by Ralph Kellard.

Antoinnette Rochte, Paul McAllister, William Lennox, Eldon Costelle and Leila Gerrish complete a well balanced cast.

Other Theatres

ORPHEUM THEATRE. "Blood and Sand," with the dashing Rodolph Valentino in the stellar role, was shown to tremendous audiences at Loew's Orpheum Theatre yesterday. The picture proved to be a vivid, colorful mosaic of poverty and quick wealth, of tender affection, passionate love and physical daring. It is a story of widely varied appeal.

STATE THEATRE. Rodolph Valentino as a dashing, picturesque toreador, well sustained his reputation as "the screen's most perfect lover" by his remarkable portrayal of the colorful role of "Chiharo" in his first Paramount picture entitled "Blood and Sand," adapted by June Mathis, from the story of Vicente Blasco Ibanez, shown yesterday at Loew's State Theatre.

TREMONT TEMPLE—"A Little Child Shall Lead Them," William Fox's sweetest screen story, opened the second week of its limited engagement at the Tremont Temple yesterday.

To clear your skin

If your skin is red, rough, blotchy and clogged with dust and oil,—don't pinch it and press it. That increases the irritation and sometimes causes infection, should the sensitive skin become bruised by the finger nails.

The use of Resinol Soap and Ointment is a very simple and pleasant way to overcome this condition. It can usually be relied upon for prompt and satisfactory results even in severe, stubborn cases.

Full directions for this treatment accompany every package of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. You will also find there detailed instructions on the care of the hair,—why Resinol Soap is ideal for it, and why it should be adopted for the daily bath.

"Miss Boston" is off.

She was accompanied by Mrs. Abby P. Foley, her mother, who will chaperone her for the week of gaiety at Atlantic City.

GIVEN BIG SEND OFF.

A large delegation of friends were present to see "Miss Boston" off, and as she took her seat, she was presented with a huge bunch of roses, a gift from Dolinsky & McDonald, Boston florists.

One whole day following Miss Trowbridge's election was spent in shopping, and the limousine that carried her to her home in Winthrop was piled high with handboxes, suit boxes and packages and bundles of every description. It was the end of such a shopping tour as all girls dream about.

The day opened when she went to the Merlin Beauty Salon and had a permanent wave, a beauty treatment, a manicure, and everything else necessary to make her the most beautiful girl in America, and ready to capture the prize from the representatives of the other seventy-five cities who will assemble at Atlantic City.

DISPLAYS RARE TASTE.

Her shoes, slippers and stockings she got from Thayer, McNeil Company. A seal coat from J. J. Fox. A bracelet from Regan, Kipp Company, and a pearl necklace from A. Stowell & Co., constituted the jewel adornment. A sport suit, consisting of blazer coat and skirt, came from Winchester Stores.

A handsome fox fur piece came from the Boston Fur Shop, and three pairs of gloves came from the Touraine Glove Co. A tweed-o-wool suit and cape came from Noyes Brothers, and two hats came from George K. Griffin. The Asbury Mills, in New York, have been instructed to send Miss Trowbridge an Annette Kellerman bathing suit.

And last but not least, a supply of dainty silk underwear came from Hovey's. Everything was of the very best, and Miss Trowbridge displayed rare taste in her choice.

SPEECH BY RADIO.

"Miss Boston," in company with girls from other cities, will stop off at Philadelphia on her way to Atlantic City. Dinner will be served and, following this, all the girls will be taken to a radio broadcasting station in Philadelphia and each one will broadcast a little speech about their city. "Listeners-in" in Boston with good receiving sets, will be able to hear what Miss Trowbridge has to say about the city in which she has spent her entire life.

As soon as "Miss Boston" and her mother arrive in Atlantic City they will be given a reception by a special committee, which will see to their every want. Chalfonte-Haddon Hall will entertain them during their stay.

This begins a week of gaiety that might make the only daughter of a millionaire jealous. "Miss Boston" will be feted from morning to night, and her every want will be cared for. Everything will be paid for.

TO COMPETE FOR HONORS.

During the week she will compete in a bathing revue, the prize of which is a gold statue of a mermaid, costing $8,000. Together with the girls from other cities, Miss Trowbridge will be considered by a motion picture manager from California, who is looking for new talent to fill a $10,000 a year position that may lead to stardom.

Then will come the final competition, in which "Miss America" will be chosen. Boston is rooting for Miss Trowbridge with all its might, and while the betting has not been made public, it is understood that it is favorable for the Winthrop girl to win first honors.

In spite of Miss Trowbridge's youth—she is only seventeen—she has all the poise of an older girl. In addition to this she is very pretty, both of face and figure, and she is possessed of all the little ways that make a girl charming.

Beauties Breeze Into Chicago Hotel

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Four radiant beauties from the Far West, who arrived in Chicago, forthwith promptly disorganized the valet, bellboy and waiter service at a leading hotel.

The young women were Miss Katherine Grant of Los Angeles, Miss Tamasia Sacs of San Francisco, Miss Virginia Edwards of Portland and Miss Evelyn Atkinson of Seattle, all prize-winning beauties of their respective cities, en route to Atlantic City to enter competition for the coveted crown of "Queen of America."

The girls range in age from seventeen to twenty-two years. They were joined here by Miss Georgia Hale, elected as Chicago's representative in the National run-off.

The beauties left for Atlantic City. They are accompanied by Mrs. W. S. Estcourt of San Francisco and Mrs. Sandford Whiting and Mrs. F. H. Edwards of Portland as chaperons.

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

This column is not about business today, so you don't need to read further unless you want to.

I have three boys, seven, five and three. They like stories better than any other. Consequently before bed time I'm very often a bear that sprangs up on three boys going through woods in a darkened room.

They didn't like the idea of their mother and father leaving them for weeks. I reconciled them, however, when I told them that we were going to a great big country where there are lots of bears, and that we hoped to see big ones and little ones, good bears and bad bears.

Yesterday we were motoring through woods when a black bear and her baby came into sight. We stopped and called to them to come and say "how do you do" to us.

The mother bear looked at us for a while, apparently under stood we wanted to talk to her and started to come toward us.

As we were very anxious to become chummy with bears we had a box of candy full of very large pieces.

When the bear and her cub came to the side of the automobile I gave her one piece of candy. She ate it and looked up for more. She liked the second piece so much that when I threw another piece to the baby bear she took it also.

I decided that she wasn't such a very good mother bear for not giving her baby even a taste of the candy. So we threw one to the mother and baby began walking back into the woods.

We saw ten other bears, but it was not so interesting or exciting as having the mother and her baby come out of the woods just to visit us. The bears we saw didn't really come to see us at all. They came as they do nearly every day, to rummage among the waste food from the Grand Canyon Hotel in Yellowstone Park. This waste is thrown on a dump a little way from the hotel every morning. The bears know when to expect it.

When we arrived on the scene only one bear was there—a great big black one. In five minutes or so we saw 4 brown bear come ambling lazily out of the woods and make straight for the garbage.

I eagerly expected a fight. The place didn't look like the arrival of a guest at his table and he growled angrily. But the brown bear was hungry and wouldn't be frightened off.

By and by the bears began to shuffle into view from all directions. The early arrivals, after they had eat no more were figured away back into the woods, making room for the newcomers. They set off cheap for about half an hour or more we sat watching them at a distance of a hundred yards or so.

* * *

There were threats of hear fights several times, but the really exciting moment was when a woman rode past not far from the bears. One of them quickly raised its head and placed his body in such a position that I thought he was getting ready to chase her. Luckily, her horse didn't see the bears—if he had seen them he probably would have become terribly frightened and run off, as all horses, they told us, are mortally afraid of bears.

We are going to do more riding through the woods and I hope to meet some more bears and to have a chance to feed them and photograph them at close range. At that, however, I need to study in the automobile because one hears many tales about bad bears clawing and injuring foolish people who become unwisely friendly with them and start teasing them by holding out food or candy and then pulling it away.

* * *

For one who has to spend most of his time among the feverish egg bulls of Wall Street, it is very refreshing to meet the bears that roam among the mountains and canyons of Yellowstone Park, away out here in rugged Wyoming, where one gathers physical and mental vigor for remingling with the bulls and the bears of Wall Street.

Doheny Oils Rise in Broad New York Market; Crucible Sets New High for Year

INTERNATIONAL PAPER AT TOP FOR 1922

Doheny oils were features of a broad and strong New York market with money renewing at 4½ per cent. Mexican Petro after receding 17s, sold 400 4⅞ at 5⅛. Pan-American lifted 1⅞ at 84.

New highs for 1922 were made by International Paper, up 2¼ at 69¾; Crucible, 2⅞ at 98; American Woolen, 2⅜ at 98; Pittsburg Coal, 2⅜ at 94½; Rock Island, 1⅝ at 49¾; United Retail Stores, new at 8⅛; U. S. Realty, 4¼ at 81¾; American Can, 3⅝ at 84¾; Railway Steel Spring, 2 at 119; Louisville & Nashville, 2⅜ at 140. Famous Players, 7⅞ at 107; Baldwin, 2⅜ at 122½; American Snuff, 4½ at 120; Chicago Pneumatic, 2 at 84¾, and Norfolk & Western, 1⅜ at 120.

Due to 4-point gains appearred in Pan-American, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Republic Steel, Studebaker, Endicott-Johnson, Standard Oil of California, American Locomotive, Bethlehem Steel B, Rock Island, Anaconda and Utah.

Record highs for all time were made by American Locomotive, up 1 at 123¾, and Allied Chemical, up 2¾ at 148.

Willys-Overland preferred rose 3½ at 45¾ and Pullman 2½ at 131¾.

Consolidated Gas, up 3¾ at 140¾, was at its previous 1922 high.

Foreign Securities Make Good Advances

Strength of foreign securities, nearly all of which advanced ½ to 1 point, featured dealings in bonds on the New York Stock Exchange.

Gains of a point were made by Zurich 8s and Marseilles 8s, with smaller advances being registered by Seine 7s, French 8s, Berne 8s, Rosenons 6s, Dominion of Canada 5s of 1931, and Mexican 4s.

Railroad mortgages were irregular, Central Pacific firsts, Oregon Short Line Refunding 4s and Southern Pacific convertible 4s moved into higher ground, but Southern Railway 5s and Baltimore & Ohio 3½s, Southern Pacific 4s common, receded below Saturday's prices.

In the industrial and public utility groups the outstanding movement was that of Brooklyn Rapid Transit 5s and Goodyear 8s of 1931, but Wilson convertible 6s were reactionary.

Studebaker.

To W. W. T., Weston.—Brokers' opinions differ greatly regarding Studebaker, and I would not venture a prediction on its future just at present, which is likely to be influenced by pool operations, which might extend in either direction. Directors at their July 31 meeting declared ..e regular 1¾ per cent. quarterly dividend on preferred stock, and 4 per cent. on common, payable Sept. 1 to stockholders of record of Aug. 10, 1922. The directors also declared a common stock dividend of 2½ per cent. basis and to pay extra dividends as conditions warrant, and 4 per cent. declared covers the 2½ per cent. regular quarterly dividend and 1½ per cent. extra.

Jersey Cereal Food Co.

To L. F. H., Dedham.—Stock of—Jersey Cereal Food Co, of Cereal, Pa., went into receivership last month. Real Estate Trust Co. of Philadelphia was made receiver. Company is supposed to have assets of over $1,000,000, somewhere near 2 per cent. on common, but was in need of receiver to straighten out its affairs.

COAL BONDS JUMP ON NEW YORK CURB

Influence of prospective resumption of anthracite output was effective in causing a brisk demand for Wayne Coal 6s, which on the New York curb exchange, these bonds moving up to 76 against a low of 59 last week. Glen Alden Coal, however, which sold at a new high record at the end of last week, was in moderate demand and registered from 63¾ to 64.

CONNOR STORES SET RECORD IN BOSTON

J. T. Connor Stores, up ½ at 29, established a new record high for all time on the Boston Stock Exchange, as did Eastern Steamship, up 1¼ at 73½.

Swift & Co. at 107 was at a new high on the move. International Cotton Mills preferred lifted 2 at 78, and Calumet & Hecla the same at 303.

Amoskeag lifted a point at 111 and Maine Central the same at 45. Venture Oil was up ⅛ at 29⅜, after selling off fractionally.

Recessions appeared as follows: Massachusetts Gas preferred, 2 at 69, with point setbacks in Oil Colony at 91, Eastern Massachusetts preferred at 71 and American Agricultural Chemical preferred at 70.

American Telephone and the rights were active with but little change.

Boston Elevated at 84 sold unchanged.

New Haven receded ⅛ at 32 and Torrington the same at 43½. Both then rallied.

Massachusetts Gas was up ¼ at 88¾ and Greenfield Tap & Die ⅝ at 29½.

The copper issues were sternly with most changes in the fractions.

MEXICAN SEABOARD OUTPUT IS LOWER

In twenty-four hours ended 7 a. m. September 4 Mexican Seaboard produced 10,600 barrels of oil, against 20,000 barrels the preceding day. This sudden collapse of production is recognized by oil men as indicating near exhaustion of the Toteco Pool. A few months ago the company was producing about 100,000 barrels oil a day, and loss of its output is one of the most sensational in the history of oil.

COTTON FUTURES QUOTATIONS RALLY

Cotton market in New York was easier today at a net decline of 1 to 9 points under hedge selling, which supplied the demand from Japanese and Liverpool interests. There also was considerable profit taking. After the start, quotations rallied on reports of continued dry weather in the Southwest.

Boston Notes

WRIGHT AEROPLANE is said to be earning around 27 per cent. on its present capital. The company may go into the commercial aviation field in eventual expansion of its business.

MILLER RUBBER has declared regular quarterly dividend of $2 on preferred and $1 a share on account of accumulated dividends, making company $11 behind on preferred.

AMERICAN TELEPHONE'S copper purchases for expansion program are among items being cited by red metal enthusiasts arguing for a further upturn.

GREENFIELD TAP & DIE has risen by steady add-lot buying. Introduced to the tape during a bear market, this stock has never enjoyed advantages of a bull swing.

SUGARS have showed renewed buoyancy forecast in this column in line with price advances.

AMERICAN BRASS CO., Anaconda subsidiary, while operating above pre-war capacity, is hampered in further expansion at present by labor shortage.

EASTERN MANUFACTURING is still receiving orders for paper in excess of normal output.

MOON MOTORS is persistently talked of on the street for a good rise.

INTERNATIONAL PAPER'S new mill is very low cost, producing about 16 per cent. of its newsprint output. Concern always carries year's supply of coal ahead, worth between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000.

Credit Men's Head Sees "Complete Recovery"

Summarizing business conditions and replies to surveys in thirteen agricultural states, J. Harry Tregoe, executive head of the National Association of Credit Men, advises 32,000 members of the organization to "watch conditions carefully, take no unreasonable chances and be perfectly confident that we are moving toward complete recovery."

"This is turning out to be a constructive year," he writes in his September letter, "with a record of definite improvement in conditions in American commerce. In employment, production wages, movement of commodities, there were encouraging signs last month. In all confusion of strikes, we are confident underlying improvements have been going on; but it is impossible to indicate how long this will continue if coal is lacking for industries and transportation for movement of crops."

SAVED BY WORK OF FIREMAN

Harold Cooper Displays Great Courage in East Boston Lumber Yard

Drawn into the whirling gears of a planing machine at the Manson Lumber Company, East Boston, Harold Cooper, 23 years old, of No. 2 Decatur street, East Boston, was probably fatally injured today.

The fire department had to be called out to extricate him from the machine. Cooper was working at the planing machine. His clothing, in some unexplained manner, caught in the gears and he was drawn into the whirring knives, and meshed in to gears.

He remained conscious in spite of efforts of doctors to administer anesthetics and directed the work of extricating himself. He was taken to the Haymarket Square Relief Hospital in a serious condition.

DEAD CALM DELAYS HINTON'S GETAWAY

Key West, Fla. Sept. 5. (By International News Service).—Lieutenant Walter Hinton failed in his first effort here today to resume his flight to Rio de Janeiro. He hopped off at 8:30, but was forced to return to the air station here to lighten the load of his airplane. Hinton's second attempt to get away also was unsuccessful, despite the plane's lightened load. Nothing further can be done until the wind freshens to assist the plan, as a dead calm prevails.

HARDING ASKS NEW TREATY WITH PANAMA

Washington, Sept. 5.—Abrogation of the present treaty arrangement with Panama, which he said was intended to operate only during the construction of the Panama canal, and the negotiation of a new treaty with that government, was recommended to Congress today by President Harding. The President transmitted a letter from Acting Secretary Phillips of the State Department setting forth that the agreement no longer provides "an adequate basis for adjustment of questions arising out of the relations between the Canal Zone authorities and the government of Panama."

FALLOWS, HEAD OF CHURCH, IS DEAD

Chicago, Sept. 5. (By International News Service).—Bishop Samuel Fallows, head of the Reformed Episcopal Church in America, died today, following an illness of several weeks of an infection of the lungs.

Bishop Samuel Fallows was a man of boundless energy. Not only did he daily carry on the manifold duties of his parish, but he found time to write and edit almost a score of books and countless articles, to address regularly may patriotic bodies, serve as the supreme head of his church, the Reformed Episcopal, in the North American continent; function on many committees, hold numerous friendships, propagandize actively at Washington when that was needed, and walk two miles each day for exercise.

He established, in 1907, a "home saloon" in Chicago, devoted to the selling of temperance drinks. The bishop, convinced that a non-alcoholic substitute for beer could be found, spent large sums hiring the best chemists to discover the formula for such fluid.

Samuel Fallows was born December 13, 1835 at Pendleton, near Manchester, England. His parents migrated to Wisconsin in 1845 to engage in farming.

When the Civil War began he helped to organize the 32d regiment of college students and became its lieutenant-colonel. Later he was made colonel of the 45th regiment and for "meritorious service" he was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers.

In 1875 Bishop Fallows became rector of St. Paul's Reformed Episcopal Church of Chicago.

He Slipped His Arm Around Her Waist! Biff! Bang!

Highland Falls, N. Y., Sept. 5.—Police Chief Fred Christoff told Judge Nelson that he had received complaints from women who said they had been accosted by a soldier on the streets here. Ordinary methods of sleuthing failed and Christoff then donned the latest in girls' clothes and took a stroll.

Corporal Albert Hoff came up and asked to escort him home. Christoff told the judge, and continued his advances even after the police officer said he was married and had three children.

"After that he put his arm around my waist," said the chief, and then I hung one on his jaw and brought him in."

The judge held Hoff in $1,000 bail for trial.

4 HELD HERE IN STOCK SWINDLE

Charged with obtaining a total of $19,000 from three customers for various stocks that were either worthless or were never delivered, John E. Jacobs and his sons, Morris and Joseph, all of No. 220 Spring Lake avenue, Everett, and Henry J. Le Fevre, were arrested by Inspectors Haggerty, Farrell and Pepin in Revere.

Brought to police headquarters in Boston, they were booked on charges of conspiracy and larceny, and were held in the sum of $10,000 each. All were to appear in court today.

The four had an office under the name of Aldo and Co., at No. 44 Broomfield street, where they conducted business for two years. The indictment warrants on which they were arrested allege that John A. Thurston of Andover, Me., paid them $10,000 for food products stock that was of no value.

They were also accused of obtaining $2,000 from Pardon Russell of New Bedford and a like amount from Wilbert A. Cooper of Plymouth for oil stocks that were never delivered.

PROFESSOR KEEPS WIFE UNTIL SUIT AGAINST 'RIVAL' IS HEARD

PARENTAGE OF BABY TO BE DECIDED IN COURT

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 5.—This city's most exclusive social circles have been rocked by a suit brought by Professor John T. Tiernan of Notre Dame University law faculty, against Harry Poulin, wealthy merchant.

Professor Tiernan, who has signed a separation agreement with his wife, charges that Poulin is the father of a child born to Mrs. Tiernan last November.

The separation agreement is dated in the future, and the couple will continue to live under the same roof until the suit against Poulin is heard, with Mrs. Tiernan as star witness for her husband.

Poulin, although only thirty, is at the head of one of South Bend's greatest clothing stores, and Tiernan has attained a national reputation in his profession through his writings on law.

EXTORTION SAYS POULIN.

Released on $2,000 bail, with the charge of "illegal paternity" to come up at a time yet undetermined, Poulin asserted that he was the victim of an extortion plot in the development of which demands had been made on him for money more than once.

Professor Tiernan, the merchant said, first sought to force him to meet expenses incident to the birth of the child and later agreed to keep silence on consideration of a money payment. This second proposition, according to Poulin, was put to him through a lawyer.

The counter-charge of blackmail brought an emphatic denial from Tiernan.

"I am making this fight in the name of the sanctity of the home, of the integrity of the family and of the stability of the very basis of our life," said the professor.

"It is an ordeal from which I shrank and which I undertook not from motives of vengeance, but because there was no other way. The question involved in this case reaches to the very heart of our whole system of life."

"PEEPERS" WITNESSES.

Tiernen asserted he would prove his case, not only by the sworn testimony of his wife, but by that of neighbors of Poulin.

Testimony to be offered by the neighbors is said to be along the line adduced by so-called "peepers" in the Stillman divorce suit.

Poulin himself is a married man and, like the professor, has two children. His wife, he says, has been aware for months that the charges now finally made public were shaping and will stand by him to the end.

Mrs. Poulin, who by an odd coincidence was celebrating her wedding anniversary yesterday, said she placed no credence whatsoever in Tiernan's accusations.

Poulin takes the stand that Professor Tiennan is mentally imbalanced and that the charges originated in a disordered brain.

POULIN'S DEFENCE.

"Two or three weeks ago" he said, "Tiernan through trickery obtained the signature of his wife to an affidavit charging me with being the father of her boy born last November. At the time she was half hysterical through his continued efforts to force her to admit her guilt.

"I have known the Tiernans for years. We moved in the same circles, and it was natural I should be well acquainted with Mrs. Tiernan. But the charge that I am the father of her child or that I ever was more intimate with her than her husband's friend should be is absolutely false."

Professor Tiernan, on the other hand, makes the specific charge that Poulin won the love of Mrs. Tiernon through attention based on a false promise of marriage.

PROMISED MARRIAGE.

"He told my wife," said the professor, "that Mrs. Poulin was suffering from tuberculosis and had only a short time to live. His proposition that he would marry her when free to do so led Mrs. Tiernan to yield to his importunities.

"The case is not only established by Poulin's confession to me, but by the testimony of Poulin's neighbors who saw certain things through the windows."

"Sylpho-Nathol made Herbert's feet feel fine

"Herbert's work keeps him on his feet for hours at a time. He walks miles and miles every day. In hot weather his feet used to hurt him dreadfully—they would swell and get so tender he couldn't sleep at night. But Sylpho-Nathol gave him quick relief.

"Letty Hayward told me about Sylpho-Nathol and its many uses. I bought a bottle at the druggist's. The directions recommended it for tired and aching feet.

"Herbert came home that evening with his feet driving him nearly crazy. He tried Sylpho-Nathol as soon as I told him about it. A tablespoonful in a gallon of warm water made a clean smelling, pearly-gray solution. My dear! I wish you could have heard Herbert. 'Sylpho-Nathol is certainly a lifesaver, Bess,' he said, as it soothed the soreness away. 'It's great stuff to have in the house—don't let's ever be without it.'"

But Sylpho-Nathol has many other important uses. In cleaning-water, it destroys germs which lurk in dust and dirt and threaten family health. As a sprinkle, it quickly dispels the unpleasant odors which come in sink pipes and drains and other hard-to-get-at places. It is indispensable in the bathroom, around the toilet fixtures and as a flush for the closet bowl. It is a dependable antiseptic, which deserves a place in every home medicine chest.

Sylpho-Nathol is 4½ times stronger than carbolic acid, yet it is as safe to have about the house as a cake of soap. Your druggist or grocer has Sylpho-Nathol in four handy sizes, 15c, 35c, 65c and $1.25. If he hasn't it he can get it easily. Ask for it by name—"Sylpho-Nathol."

Nuptials of Alice Harding This Week at Beverly Farms, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

THERE is a good bit of chattering and whispering going on among members of the 1919-20 Sewing Circle, for one of their number has just joined the ranks of the Married Maidens—as the social register terms them.

The bride was Miss Elizabeth Cabot, who now signs her checks Mrs. Henry Holt, Jr. It was at high noon yesterday in Dublin, N. H., where the bride's family spends much its Summers, that the ceremony took place. Unless I am greatly mistaken, there will be few nuptial events this season more brilliant than the Cabot-Holt one.

Not only were there a host of Cabot connections present at the wedding, but as the bridegroom hails from New York, a representative coterie of Gotham's fashionable world was also on hand to witness the affair.

A minute after the organ had pealed forth the old, familiar strains of Mendelssohn's famous march Thomas Handasyd Cabot walked proudly to altar with his older daughter upon his arm. Peppy Polly Cabot served her sister as maid of honor, the bridesmaids including Miss Lucy Currier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Currier; Miss Sylvia Holt, a sister of the bridegroom; Miss Jane Brush of Dublin and Miss Rebecca Smith, daughter of the Joseph Linden Smiths.

SPEAKING of the former Elizabeth Cabot, if I remember correctly, there was a time when she had thespian aspirations. The latter at one time became so intense, I believe, that the older daughter of the T. Handasyd Cabots, whose Winter home, by the way, is on Newbury street, entered Mrs. Guy Currier's school of acting in Peterboro, N. H., which is just a stone's throw away from Dublin.

Studying there at the same time was Lucy Currier, one of the bridesmaids at yesterday's ceremonial. Evidently the matrimonial stage proved more alluring than the thespian, and now the former Elizabeth Cabot is leading lady in the Cabot-Holt company.

SPEAKING of weddings—and I'm afraid I'll have to for the next month or two—the North Shore promises to have a very brilliant affair in the marriage of Miss Alice Harding to Robert Thompson Pell. The ceremony will be solemnized on Thursday of this week at St. John's Church, Beverly Farms, with a wedding breakfast to follow at "Princemere," the Pride's Crossing estate of the Frederick H. Princes.

Which reminds me that every day society expects to be informed of the date when Miss Miriam Thorndike Fenno will promise to love, honor and obey John Simpkins, son of Mrs. Nathaniel Simpkins. The engagement of the young people was announced some time last month, and it is understood that their marriage will take place in October. The ceremony will be solemnized in St. John's Church, to be followed by a reception at the Beverly Cove Summer place of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Brooks Fenno.

MENTION of the Harding-Pell nuptials brings to mind the fact that on the same day—the 7th—comes the church fair at "Hale Farm," the Beverly Cove estate of Mrs. Robert Hale Bancroft. The affair, which is in aid of St. Peter's Church, Beverly, promises to be one of the most important charity functions of the North Shore season, and a host of interesting things have been planned for the afternoon and evening.

MRS. WOLCOTT HOWE JOHNSON, whose town house is on Commonwealth avenue, plans to remain in Japan until the middle of September. With her is her popular daughter, Rosamond Johnson, who is being greatly missed along the Shore, where the Johnsons have a place at Hamilton.

Mrs. Johnson and her daughter stopped for a while in Honolulu, from which port they sailed for Japan. The young men of the family, Samuel and George Johnson, are occupying the Hamilton place during their absence.

McMENIMEN IS ASSAILED BY A. F. L. MEN

Washington, Sept. 5.—Walter L. McMenimen of Cambridge, Mass., labor representative on the Railroad Labor Board, has been made the subject of a bitter attack by officials of the American Federation of Labor.

In an article, now said to be in type, McMenimen is accused of disloyalty to organized labor and is charged with being aligned with the management group of the Board on every vital issue.

The article, said to be the result of a careful investigation of McMenimen's record from the days when he was a railroad brakeman, is now waiting the decision of labor officials for release.

It charges that he was first slated for appointment on the Interstate Commerce Commission as a result of political services for Vice President Coolidge in Massachusetts and President Harding during the 1920 campaign in several States.

According to the article, McMenimen agreed to take a place on the labor board, when former Congressman Esch, one of the authors of the transportation act of 1920, failed of reelection. Esch was placed on the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The President appoints all members of the labor board, but his nominations to membership in the management and labor groups must be taken from nominations made by the carriers and recognized railroad labor organizations under rules and regulations laid down by the Interstate Commerce Commission. It is charged that discovery was made that McMenimen was ineligible, but Attorney General Daugherty showed the Interstate Commerce Commission how to get around this.

The board has nine members, three representing the public, three railroad management and three railroad workers.

'WETS' AND 'DRYS' IN WISCONSIN

Milwaukee, Sept. 5 (By the Associated Press).—Returns of today's primary election in Wisconsin will be eagerly scanned by "wet" and "dry" organizations of the State since candidates representing these different forces are seeking nominations for legislative offices.

The Wisconsin Anti-Saloon League is advocating the nomination of W. A. Croffoot for United States Senator over Senator R. M. La Follette and endorsement of Attorney-General William J. Morgan over Governor John J. Blaine for the Republican Gubernatorial honors. While the platform of Senator La Follette and Governor Blaine made no mention of prohibition, these candidates are receiving the support of the association opposed to prohibition.

LAWRENCE WORKERS RETURN TO MILLS

Lawrence, Sept. 5.—The number of textile operatives returning to work in Lawrence cotton mills was considerably increased today. About 1,400 workers returned to the Pacific Mills today and other mills reported large gains.

EPISCOPALIANS TO CENSOR BOOK

Portland, Ore., Sept. 5.—If members of the commission on prayer book revision have their views accepted, Episcopalians rarely will read to them from the Psalter scriptural passages that are imprecatory in nature, that call for dire vengeance or a curse upon enemies of the righteous.

This was indicated today in statements made by Dr. Charles L. Slattery, rector of Grace Church, New York, who has been selected to present the report to the House of Deputies of the Episcopal Church when opens this week.

"The whole attempt of the commission," he said, "is that of bringing the prayer book into accord with the best truth and reality we know."

As the floor settled sharply, the diners leaped from windows.

PROTEGE OF GARDEN SEEKS OPERA CAREER

New York Sept. 5.—Miss Hazel Dare Wilder is in this city to seek a career as a singer. She is a protege of Mary Garden and has won great praise for her vocal selections. Although she has never taken a lesson, she is heralded by experts as one of the sensations of the year. She has been with Mary Garden for several months, ever since the great singer first heard the voice of the little "Louisiana Song Bird," as she is called.

MOTHER JONES IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Washington, Sept. 5.—Mother Jones, one of the most picturesque characters in the labor movement in America, is critically ill at the home of friends here.

The fearless champion of women and children in industrial disputes is suffering from a complication of diseases, according to her physician, who attributed the condition to her advanced age.

MOTHER JONES

The straight-out woman was born in Ireland and when an infant was taken by her parents to Ireland.

The United Mine Workers of America idolized her for her fearless advocacy of their cause in labor controversies. She was a notable figure in the great anthracite coal strikes of 1900 and 1902. Her most active part in the latter was in the six weeks' coal strike in the Pa. region in 1900.

She helped to organize marches of miners to collieries, sometimes leading all night with the men, getting up at 4 o'clock in the morning to help persuade workers to go into the mines. She did not fear armed deputy sheriffs or militia. She was usually at the head of the crowd that marched from town to another.

QUEEN MARIE

PLOT TO KILL RULERS OF RUMANIA

Bucharest, Rumania, Sept. 5 (By the Associated Press).—A plot to kill the royal family while attending the races during a festival has been discovered and a number of Hungarian army officers are under arrest.

They are declared to have had in their possession explosives which, it is said, they intended to plant in the grand stand at the race track.

MINERS BURIED 9 DAYS SIGNAL RESCUERS

Jackson, Ky., Sept. 5 (By the Associated Press).—Miners entombed in the Acme coal mine since a week ago last Sunday night signalled late last night to the rescue crews who are tunneling from the Kanawha side toward the Argonaut shaft. Robert Lightner, one of the rescue workers with the rescue crews, said today.

Jackson, Ky., Sept. 5.—Explosives were being used to release the forty men entombed in the Argonaut coal mine today were penetrating what is known as the cold blast of the mine, and that the 3,400 feet level of the shaft, in which rescue crews are working, would be reached by the second shift of workers tonight. Mine officials announced that they were confident that the men entombed by the explosion would be found alive.

Where Main Street meets State Street, 528 motorists, chauffeurs and motor truck drivers were asked this question: "Which brand of gasoline do you prefer?" Socony proved easily the first choice, leading the brand second on the list by over 80%. Socony has been found to be the leading choice of motorists in practically every section of New York and New England.

LEADERSHIP Proves Dependability

NOTE—"Boiling-point" is a common term in the gasoline testing laboratory. Most liquids boil (vaporize) at one uniform temperature. In the case of water this temperature, or boiling point, is 212° F. However, every gasoline has many boiling points—a whole series or range of them in fact. It is this range of boiling points and the proportion of each group of them (low, medium and high) that really determine the quality of a gasoline—its volatility, power and mileage-economy.

IF you were to make a list of the great number of commodities that come before the public each year, stay a short time and then pass into oblivion, you would find that they all had at least one failing in common—they were undependable.

You rarely, if ever, heard of any product which was not dependable that achieved a lasting success. And no product could enjoy the long continued leadership that Socony Gasoline has enjoyed unless it were absolutely dependable in every way, wherever you buy it, always.

Socony is only one of twenty or more branded gasolines that are now being offered in New York State and New England. Yet a recent investigation has shown that Socony is still preferred by the majority of gasoline users in this great territory. And the majority of people buy wisely.

See the adjoining diagram and Note for the explanation of Socony's dependability—and its widespread popularity.

B. C. Forbes, Who Sees Through Finance and Industry Does a Good Deal More—He Sees Through Human Nature

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE is the title of a column appearing on the Financial Page of the Boston American every business day. That is a decidedly modest title, in view of what appears beneath it. Nearer the correct definition would be

FORBES' FINANCIAL VIEWS ON HUMAN PHILOSOPHY.

Hovering over a cauldron where hectic strife and dollar-delirium are wont to be brewing, this title leads to the first and the last word in calm judgment, equable temper, thoughtful and seasoned science.

These qualities the B. C. Forbes column transmits to the minds of thousands of men, day after day. From his pen trickles truth—more than market-truth—HUMAN TRUTH. As one of his admirers put it: "Forbes must hold a philosopher's stone, transmuting baser metals into gold."

That is granted, provided in analogy it applies to the human mind as well.

The B. C. Forbes daily treatise on matters financial, industrial and human, accounts in no small degree for the tremendous and ever-growing audience reached by the Boston American's Financial Page. It helps to explain why the page is read by thousands of men and women interested in things financial and industrial—why it is taken into so many homes.

It also explains why advertising on that page proves so profitable—why it is increasing at so gratifying a rate—why so many advertisers who once use it come back for more!

Halifax, N. S., Sept 5—The Maid of Canada, a [illegible] schooner from New York to Halifax with a cargo of 300 tons of [illegible] coal, sank off this port after collision with the steamer Sable Mack in a heavy fog.

Captain Wilke and the schooner's crew of 8 men were rescued by the Sable Mack and brought here tonight.

The Sable Mack, a former rumrunner, was bound for Boston out of Sydney, N. S., with a cargo of fish. She struck the schooner on the forestaying chain plates. The former ran two-paper drew off and stood by to offer aid.

Expecting the schooner to sink at once, the Maid of Canada's crew took to the boats. But when she remained afloat tow lines were put on board and the crew returned to man her pumps. Efforts to repair the hole in her side met with little success, however, and the schooner slowly settled.

The crew again took to boats and was picked up by the Sable Mack, a few minutes before the Maid of Canada sank. She was built at Wolfville, N. S., in 1918 and was of 3.0 tons register.

CUBANS CRITICIZE CROWDER'S DEMAND

Havana, Sept. 5—Severe criticism of Major-General E. H. Crowder's step in presenting an ultimatum, as personal representative of President Harding, to the Cuban government setting a definite time limit for enactment of reformatory legislation, was voiced in Congress by the President of the Senate, Aurelio Alvarez.

Senor Alvarez termed the incident a violation of the permanent treaty between the United States and Cuba in that it constituted intervention in the internal affairs of the island. He also condemned the Zayas administration for submitting to the alleged infringement of the national sovereignty.

BOSTON'S LIVE WIRES

THE MOHAWK A. A.

WHAT'S YOUR LIST?

SPORTS

CAN HARVARD WIN OVER DARTMOUTH, CENTRE AND H. C.?

BREAKERS AHEAD FOR CRIMSON ELEVEN

Harvard football enthusiasts are airing their Crimson flags and banners which have been chumming with moth balls.

With the green painted warriors from Dartmouth added to the schedule after an interval of ten years or so, and the play-off of a tie with the "Praying Colonels" of Centre College on the schedule in addition to the Harvard-Yale-Princeton triangular encounters, the Crimson sport followers will be served with plenty of October and November gridiron clashes.

The opening game of the season will be played with Middlebury College at the Harvard Stadium, September 30. The unique policy of blasting the season open with a football double-header which Harvard tried out last year, will not be followed this year. Consequently, Boston University will not be found among the list of Crimson opponents.

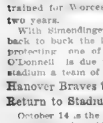
Holy Cross is found in the second berth on the schedule. Thanks to the accurate drop kicks executed by Charley Buell, the wearers of the purple pigskin chasers entrained for Worcester at the small end of 3 to 0 scores for the past two years.

Bob Fisher

With Simendinger and Broussard back to back the line and Mahony protecting one of the ends, Geo O'Donnell is due to bring to the stadium a team of no mean ability.

Hanover Braves to Return to Stadium

October 14 is the date of the How dore game. The Maine college won the championship of the Pine Tree State last year. The visiting Savages the bigger from the home of bean suppers and for baked beans will invade the stadium to play one of the with Harvard. Over the College without the aid of the flashing 'Bo McMillan will find it a tough proposition to balance the scale on their side. In 1920, the Crimson warriors squelched the much lauded Centre College eleven, 31 to 14, but in 1921, 'Bo and his gang turned about and swamped Harvard to the tune of 6 to 0. However, the Blue Grass Staters still have Ted Roberts for an outstanding star and he alone is enough to make any fray interesting.



Charley Buell

The warwhoops of the Hanoverian braves will be heard in the Stadium on October 28.

Florida will be the distant college eleven to endeavor to take Harvard measure this year. The game is scheduled for November 4.

On the eleventh the first of the triangular frays will be played at the Stadium, when Princeton, without the help of the much-needed Gilroy and McNamara will visit Harvard.

It is thought that Ralph Gilroy, who was declared ineligible by the Princeton authorities and who was elected captain of this season's team is seeking to be reinstated. Gilroy was the boy that caught the forward pass and ran over fifty yards to the touchdown that beat Harvard last Fall in the Palmer Stadium.

Brown to Tackle the Crimson Eleven

Brown is the next opponent to be taken on Harvard had one tough afternoon's work last November to send the Brunonians back to Providence at the short end of a 9-to-6 way Para.

THREE LEADERS IN GOLF TOURNEY

FRANCIS OUIMET, WILLIE HUNTER AND TOLLEY

GUILFORD SETS RECORD IN TITLE GOLF PLAY

By FRANCIS OUIMET.

Never before in the history of an amateur championship were the players confronted with such atrocious weather conditions. The rain came down in torrents all day long and converted the fairways and putting greens into veritable quagmires. The historic and ancient polo field, which one crosses in playing the first and eighteenth holes, looked more like a great lake dotted with islands rather than a perfectly good fairway. The day was simply impossible.

Most of the golfers equipped themselves with cotton gloves or wound bandage gauze around the grips of their clubs, otherwise they could never have held onto the slimy grips. And still others used rubber tees in place of the sand, for the good reason that a well made tee of sand soon melted away to nothing under the cruel battering of the rain.

The wonder of it all was that so many fine scores were recorded. Cyril Tolley, the most dangerous of the invaders, turned in a brilliant 74 to go along with a like round he made last Saturday. He made a 38 on his first nine holes, a score three above par.

The outward half is a trifle easier than the inward nine, but he came racing in with a 36, topping this effort off with a brilliant three on the very much submerged 18th hole.

Playing along with Tolley was Gardner White, who did a poor 37 Saturday. White got his strokes working in fine order and was actually two strokes better than Tolley after having played twelve holes. From that point on he fell from grace and though he did was a brave effort, it was not quite good enough.

Ted Ray, Hoomah, one of the best Britons, gave up in disgust as did also Bernard Darwin when they found the fates as well as the elements were against them. Leslie Colin Aylmer gave a great display of courage. He played the first nine holes so poorly that he actually needed forty-seven strokes. From then on he was a different man. Playing as though possessed of some uncanny power he made the last nine in par figures, giving him a mark of 83 or a net total of 159 for the two days' play, good enough to qualify.

One of the biggest disappointments of the day was the failure of Roger Wethered to get in. He was fine a player to be sitting on the outside, but the fact that he was badly overstuffed did more toward keeping him from striking his best gait than any other thing, though it is a great pity and we all feel sorry for him.

One star is slated tonight over his splendid performance of today and that is the likable Jimmy Johnston of St Paul. His game last Saturday gave him much to do, but he came through like a major and in spite of the drizzle his seventy-four brought him safely into the fold with several shots to spare.

Never have I seen better golf in the pinches than that displayed by Jimmy and it is a source of much pleasure to me that he played so well.

A championship such as this one always has it's thrills. For a long time it looked as if Cyril Tolley would lead the fastest field ever in the qualifying round. Then Chick Evans, needing a four to tie the Tolley total of 148 strokes, finished with a mighty neat four.

For a long time this score looked as though it would surely top all others. One by one the cards were turned in, but nothing approaching 148 was chalked up. The two outstanding favorites for championship honors were still to be heard from, these young men being Bobby Jones and the champion himself Jesse Guilford.

Jones was the first to report. He was going great guns. Playing the short sixteenth hole he had a three, four, four for a seventy-two. His pitch to the sixteenth was off the line and came to rest to the right of the hole and in a deep sand pit.

Undaunted the little master from Atlanta chipped out of the pit to about six or eight feet from the cup and then coolly holed his putt for a three. Two fours to finish placed him at the head of the class and I must say I really felt he was there to say.

Guilford Equals the Country Club Record

Jesse Guilford's great 76, which won him the qualifying medal in the Brookline championship yesterday, equals the record for the Country Club course, held jointly before by Ted Ray of England, and George Bowden, former Tedesco pro.

The Guilford mark, however, makes the others fade into insignificance, as he shot it over a course in the worst possible condition, with heavy showers beating down on him through the entire 18 holes. Incidentally, the Brookline jaunt, is a more difficult affair now than it was when the Ray and Bowden records were established.

TOTH WILL TRY AGAIN TO SWIM CHANNEL

Charles Toth, "L" street "brownie" who was unsuccessful in his attempt to swim the English Channel, will make another attempt within a few days.

Toth was forced to leave the water when only five miles from his goal. For hours he had battled the heavy sea without nourishment. This was made necessary when the salt water became mixed with the contents of Toth's "nursing bottle," carried in the boat which accompanied him.

In a cablegram received by friends on L street, "Charlie" announced his intention of making another try before returning to the United States. "Feeling fine. In great condition when forced to leave the water because of lack of nourishment. Will try again before returning home."

Toth was buffeted by the heavy seas for nearly twelve hours before giving up. He was within five miles of Calais, which was his goal. The swim from Dover, England, across the channel, to Calais, France, is twenty-eight miles.

World Series of 1914

The Boston American reader who inquired by telephone on the world's series of 1914 is informed that the Braves and Athletics played the Boston games at Braves Field and that many of the Braves games that year, were also played at Fenway Park.

GREAT WELCOME TO BROWNS BY HOME FANS

St Louis, Sept 5—The Browns, upon whom St. Louis fans have set hope to bring to this city the first pennant in more than 30 years, are to be given a public reception here this evening, at which each player, Business Manager Bob Quinn, Manager Lee Fohl, and the team's secretary, is to receive a gold watch.

City officials and representatives of many civic organizations have accepted invitations.

By winning yesterday's doubleheader from Cleveland, the Browns moved within one game of the Yankees, reviving the fans' hope that the locals would soon be back in the lead.

The fact that the Browns wind up their season with 27 more games on their home grounds has added to the fans' hopes.

MALONE FIGHTS DOWNEY NXET

Tommy Walsh writes to Jack Conway as follows:

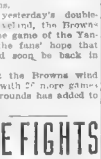
"Jock Malone, the man after two titles, will box and defeat Bryan Downey in the Mechanics Building Labor Day for whatever part of the middleweight title Downey should hold.

"Fighting for the middleweight title these days is a good deal like studying geography. It depends where you are standing and who's doing the tramp in that game.

"Downey holds some title around Ohio, as they said he knocked out Johnny Wilson, and while in Boston and the New England States we would have to beat Wilson, and then around New York have Rosenberg be the man they will trot out for a championship affair, if past mention champions, so the big question is, what title will Malone hold after Labor Day?

"However, Jock Malone is a good traveler; he can beat Downey, Wilson and Rosenberg if necessary, and then will jump back to 147 pounds and beat Jack Britton.

"Malone beat Downey two months ago according to a no-decision bout and did not satisfy Jimmie Dunn, so this is to a decision, and there should be no mistake."



Jock Malone.

PLAY DAVIS CUP MATCHES TODAY

New York, Sept. 5—The steady rain of last night forced the final play in the Davis Cup tennis tournament to be postponed until this afternoon.

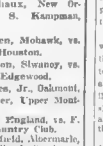
MORE RING STARS ARE SET BACK

New York, Sept. 5—The State Athletic Commission, the name under which our august boxing board operates, ordered knock outs on two leading local mitt slingers at its weekly meeting. Jack Sharkey, featherweight contender, and Midget Smith, bantamweight challenger, were on the receiving end of the K. O. clouts, the former being suspended for one year and the Mid get for half that term.



Midget Smith

Both were set down for violation of contract, following a complaint by the New Jersey Boxing Commission, which is failing to appear before the New York referee, after receiving official notice to be on hand to answer the charges against them. Joe Wagner, manager of Sharkey, also was suspended for twelve months beginning August 17.

Arlington in Final

Arlington A. A. will meet Salem on Spy Pond Field this evening in the playoff of last week's scoreless tie. It is the last twilight encounter of the season for Arlington.

WILLIE HUNTER WIGGLES INTO THE LIST

Willie Hunter, former Dartfish champion, now playing from Westchester, New York, just wiggled into the qualifiers at Brookline. Now, if he goes true to form, he will cause plenty of trouble in match play.

Willie with Carlton Wells, the Michigan champion, Joe Wells, the Ohio star, Cameron Buxton of Philadelphia, and Harry Kenworthy of Metacomet, were tied at 162, and played one hole to decide which three would stay in the fold.

All five got off fine drives. Kenworthy sliced his second back of the trees guarding the green, Buxton missed his, Hunter was short and in the road, while the Wells family were nicely over trouble, just short of the green. Buxton played a fine wooden shoot on, then took three putts and wished himself on.

Hunter chipped a beauty five feet from the pin and dropped in for a four. Kenworthy was short on his third, but put his fourth on and went down in one. Carlton Wells missed a tap for a four, then sunk a longish one. The other Wells, in best position after his second, was too strong on his approach, went past on his putt, and failed coming back. So he joined the gallery.

OPERATE ON DUNDEE FOR CARBUNCLE

New York, Sept. 5.—Johnny Dundee was operated on for a carbuncle in the arm. His fever reached 102. Dundee will be unable to box Willie Jackson at Ebbets Field Wednesday.

Sid Marks the Canadian lightweight, will fight Jackson. His leap into prominence came when he fought Jackson several months ago at the Commonwealth Club. That fight he dropped White to the floor several times and proved that he was a battler of renown.

MONTREAL-CURTIN BOUT POSTPONED

Providence, R. I., Sept. 5—The heavy rain forced a postponement of the holiday bout between Young Montreal of this city and Irish Johnny Curtin.

The promoters decided to stage the bout next Saturday. It will be held in the open air and the bout is to be staged at 5 P. M.

CHAMPION A. E. F. BOXER KILLED IN BOUT

Roscommon, Mich., Sept. 5.—Sam "Kid" Johnson, negro light heavyweight of Stillsville, Mich., was killed in the eighth round of a ten round bout here with Dumb Masson of Brooklyn. A blow over the heart was the cause of death, according to physicians. Johnson was champion A. E. F. boxer in his class during the war.

Postpone Noble-Lee Bout

New York, Sept. 5—The fight between Sammy Noble and Danny Lee, to have taken place at the Velodrome last night, was postponed because of the rain.

Twilight President Spikes Rumor On "King" Bader

There have been rumors to the effect that the North Cambridge Knights of Columbus are trying to obtain "King" Bader from the St. Andrews A. A. for the coming Twilight League championship series. President Claude B. Davidson says that there is no truth to the story and that should the Knights engineer such a scheme a severe penalty will be dealt out to them.

Neither winning outfit will be allowed the privilege of using any other players other than those on their roster now.

Furthermore, Davidson says he doubts very much if any such thing will be attempted, as Manager Dan Leahy and "King" Bader are enemies on the diamond.

LEONARD HOLDING UP TENDLER GO

From a reliable source it was learned that Phil Glassman manager of Lew Tendler, has come to an agreement accepting the offer made him by Tom O'Rourke, matchmaker of the Republic A. C., for a return contest with Benny Leonard, the lightweight champion, to be staged at the Polo Grounds on Columbus Day night.

Phil Glassman.

The only hitch in the match being officially closed is the failure of Billy Gibson, who manages the champion, to sign articles of agreement. What the hitch is that has caused Gibson to fail to sign is not known, but it is expected that he will eventually agree to the bout being run under the auspices of the Republic A. C.

Phil Glassman was in New York the other day, but would make no statement as to whether he had accepted the terms for the match or not. Tom O'Rourke, who is arranging the shows, was also reticent when questioned regarding the matter.

FRAMINGHAM WILL BATTLE GARDNER

Framingham will play the Gardner Team in Framington tomorrow night at Thompson Athletic Field and the fans in this section are all excited over the return game.

Framingham will have the following men: Quinn, recently of the 3d Lefty Hunk Wilson, Eddie and Tom Phillips, of Boston College, George Crowther, ex Brown Captain, "Dixie" Halloran, ex-Fordham Captain Kelley, and others.

Gardner will have Connors, Cutting, Crawford, Petty, Roopel, Mitchell, Kilies, King, Hammil.

John Murphy, Manager.

EVERYBODY WANTS TO KNOCK OFF WILSON'S CROWN

WILL CHAMPION GIVE ROBINSON A BOUT?

By JACK CONWAY.

The middleweights have pushed the welterweights off the flatic stage.

Johnny Wilson.

Everybody wants to knock the middleweight crown from Jawn Wilson's brow. This is a very lofty ambition for any young man to have. It is also a profitable one. Ask Ham Kelly of South Boston, who was paid $1,750 for less than nine minutes of fighting with George Robinson.

Kelly was made a card because a lot of people thought he could knock out Wilson. The Boxing Commission, using very good judgment, refused to approve a Wilson-Kelly bout.

Beat Robinson, McClellan or McCarthy and you may fight Wilson," said the commission.

Ham ventured forth to battle with the toughest of the three. And he got a sweet pasting as was to be expected.

You can't give a grocery store delivery horse a rub down and expect him to go out and beat Morvich.

Boxers are not quite the same as horses, but class usually tells. And it doesn't matter a great deal whether it is on the race track or in the ring or in business.

Of course "fixed" matches often hand Father Class a black eye. But in the long run the fakers and sure thing boys roll down the greased toboggan into oblivion.

The readers of this column were not deceived as to Kelly's true fighting form. We said he didn't have a chance of scoring with his much press-agented punch. We handed out the tip that Robinson was the young man who would do the knocking. And so it was.

Everybody Wants to Kick Wilson Around

Now the boys on Washington street are forced to admit that Johnny Wilson is the best middleweight champion in a row of cuckoos.

George Robinson is numbered among the foremost challengers of the champion. Wilson said he would battle the winner of the Kelly-Robinson affair.

Will he keep his word?

There are people who say that Robinson could have knocked Wilson out at Montreal IF HE HAD WANTED TO.

And there are others who maintain that the Cambridge boxer had the best of the Charlestown warrior when they met again at the Boston Arena.

Wilson can get more money out of a bout with Robinson in Boston than he can ever then by meeting Harry Greb in New York. And Wilson has no desire to enter a New York ring with Greb. He figures he would be robbed of his title regardless of how good a showing he might make.

Wilson would prefer to battle Greb in Boston at catchweights. As Greb ordinarily weighs 168 or so pounds, Wilson would not lose his title. Even the New York Boxing Commission will admit that a light heavyweight cannot win the middleweight championship.

Reed and Bogash Also Have Title Hopes.

Pal Reed and Lou Bogash, who made a hit at the Commercial A. C.'s show at Mechanics Building Friday night, also have hopes of knocking off Wilson's crown.

Reed fought Wilson prior to the latter defeating Mike O'Dowd. The bout, which went to Wilson, was not approved by many of the fans. And Reed has been unable to get a return bout with the champion which may have some significance.

Bogash also believes that his rushing, two-handed style of milling would enable him to win over the champion.

Maybe!

But will Wilson please let the world know if he is willing to risk his title in a bout with Robinson.

A lot of fans would like to see such a match.

FIGHT RESULTS.

At Troy, N. Y.—Nate Siegel of Boston and Al Norton of Yonkers fought twelve rounds to a draw.

Johnson, N. H.—George Vanderhook knocked out Jimmie Demas, two rounds.

At Lowell—Phinney Boyle defeated Louis Hamlin, ten rounds.

At Erie, Pa.—Jimmy Goodrich defeats Charley O'Connell.

At Omaha—Morris Schlaifer of Omaha beat Johnny Nichols of Milwaukee in ten rounds.

At Toledo—Jimmy Darcy of Toledo and Battling Chink of Cincinnati fought a twelve-round draw.

At Detroit—Bob Sage of Detroit beated George Slagle of New York, ten rounds.

At Akron—Homer Smith of Detroit beat Joe Burke in twelve rounds.

LYNCH DEFEATS MOORE IN CHAMPIONSHIP GO

By SAM HALL.

Michigan City, Ind., Sept. 5.—Pal Moore, the famous Memphis lush, had a bad half hour in the sky-blue bowl here last evening in his mad scramble for the bantamweight championship of the world. Joe Lynch, the champion, unexpectedly dealt out a stiff lacing and came very close to knocking out the hop-scotcher from the South.

Pal was lucky he stuck through a disastrous seventh round and only his wonderful gameness pulled him out of what was probably the tightest spot he has been caught in during years of ring service.

Lynch, in better condition than he has ever fought in around here, was a real champion in this fight and looked it from start to finish. In the seventh he had Pal out on his feet for most of the round, scored two knockdowns, one for a six count and another for a four count, and pounded him cruelly for the full three minutes.

They all been stepping along on fairly even terms up to the seventh when Lynch always trying with a very good straight right-hand punch for the jaw. Shortly after the gong started the seventh Joe got home with one of his rights and shook up Pal. The Memphis lad then started his prancing and dancing stuff to clear the cobwebs from his brain.

Lynch started the same stuff and they hopped all over the place with the champion looking for a right and getting that instead. Pal was a sad sight when the gong sounded for Moore. The right went through like a piece of soft cheese and Pal sagged over the ropes. He was still groggy about one minute.

He landed half on over the top rope and that is all that kept him up. Lynch stood a few feet away and looked on in disgust. So did practically all the rest of the fans. Moore managed to scramble through the ropes and fell to the floor outside on the apron. Moore to send right across the ring and took a grip on another top rope.

Joe walked after him and shot some more rights to the jaw. Pal slipped his grip off the ropes to the second rope, but that and sank to the canvas for a six count.

His left cheek was cut from a right-hander, the blood was oozing therefrom and his eyes were glassy. He got up, like the game boy he is, and tumbled into a clinch.

Lynch shook him loose and two more rights cracked over in the jaw neighborhood. Down crumpled Pal again. The time he did not know what it was all about.

All he knew was that he was down and must get up. He turned his blood smeared countenance to the referee and got in on one knee. He was still on one hand, then up. This took place in the space of four seconds.

Lynch saw that Pal was tired from the fight and as Pal reeled around the ring Lynch was pursuing. Quickly the bell came to the relief of the groggy Moore. The champion tried to finish, in his eighth, the work started in the seventh and while he and Moore rocking in the cool evening breeze he could not get him down again.

After that Pal was fairly safe and in spots tried to catch up lost ground, but he was far from his real self after that tough seventh round. He probably will never forget that round.

Lynch had the first third, sev enth, eighth and tenth rounds. Pal had the second and fifth.

It was a tough fight and a wonderful fight, full of sensations and thrills and pretty close play. There was considerable feeling shown in the way of conversation from the Lynch side. Joe was guilty of calling Pal naughty names and in the third round could be heard a dozen rows from the ringside shouting, "Why don't you stand up and fight?"

Jack Dempsey boxed a four-round exhibition with Andre Anderson of Chicago and Jack Thompson, a Philadelphia negro boxer.

FATHER OF BRAVES' PITCHER IS DEAD

Joe Genewich, the New York State woodsman who finished the game at Brooklyn for the Braves, was forced to leave the team yesterday afternoon. The recruit pitcher was advised of the death of his father at Elmira, N. Y., and he was forced to make a hurried trip back home.

PAL REED TO TRY OLD KAYO BLOW

When Pal Reed, Natick middleweight, climbs into the ring at Mechanics Building next Friday night, he will make an attempt to perform a stunt that no other middleweight star has been able to accomplish.

Pal Reed

Reed has visions of knocking out Bogash when they meet. The Framingham boy says: "The last time I met Bogash I nearly had him out. He was unable to fathom my southpaw style. This time I'll try harder than ever to put over a wallop which I will be in better shape for than but than ever before and if Bogash goes the limit, I'll take my hat off to him."

Reed is now punching harder than ever and Jim fans know what that means. Reed is considered one of the real heavy weight punchers among the middleweights. His record is speckled with K. O. victories.

Al Reace of East Boston and Patsy Bogash of Bridgeport will also meet.

TWILIGHT GAME HAWTHORNE TO TONIGHT MAY DECIDE

There is still some question as to the Greater Boston Twilight League champions for the second half, but the only hope the St. Andrews A. A. have is to win all the coming battles. That will tie them for first place with the Cornet All-Stars of Lynn.

Tonight looks like a big night, as there are no games booked. One will find the St. Andrews and Cornets batting it out at the John W. Murphy playgrounds, Carolina avenue, Jamaica Plain, while the other attraction will be staged at Russell Field, North Cambridge, when the Dorchester Baseball Club team meets the North Cambridge Knights.

Should the Cornets defeat St. Andrews this evening all will be over as far as the title for the second half is concerned and then the infant league moguls can get together and toss coins and make arrangements for the title series, which will bring the winners of this half together with the North Cambridge Knights of Columbus, who won the first half.

There will be a five-game series for the championship, and a toss of the coin will decide whether the series will begin in North Cambridge or Lynn or wherever it is.

The game in Jamaica Plain tonight should fill the Carolina avenue ball ground. "King" Bader will mount the slab for the Saints. They are more than anxious to gather this game into their bag of victories.

O'DOWD SIGNS UP WITH ROSENBERG

Former Middleweight Champion Mike O'Dowd of St. Paul will get another crack at the "title" when he meets Dave Rosenberg of Brooklyn, at Ebbets Field on September 19. O'Dowd won the championship in Brooklyn, and he expects to repeat when he meets Rosenberg.

CHARLESTON WINS LEAGUE PENNANT

Charleston, S. C., Sept. 5.—The South Atlantic Association closed today with Charleston winning the pennant by a safe margin. Charlotte, by defeating Columbia in a double-header, goes into second place. Spartanburg finished fourth, Augusta fifth and Greenville last. This is the second ever won by Charleston.

HOLIDAY SPORTS AT REFORMATORY

Labor Day was celebrated as a holiday by the 848 inmates of the Concord Reformatory. Yard liberty was enjoyed with a long program of sports. A baseball game between the Reformatory and a nine from South Acton was won by the latter, 5 to 2.

JOE TIPLITZ TO TACKLE MORAN

With the signing of Joe Tiplitz to mix with Pal Moran in the fourth event, Messrs. Taylor and Gunna have completed their program for the National League baseball park in Philadelphia September 11.

FIGHT PICTURES AT THE HOWARD

At the Howard this week the management is showing the motion pictures of the Shevlin-Siegal contest, for the welterweight title which was fought last May at the Arena. The pictures are genuinely clear and throughout the entire ten rounds there is action enough to satisfy all patrons of the art of boxing. These pictures will be displayed every day at 2:25, 6 and 9 o'clock.

"WILD MAN" GOULD IN WORCESTER BOUT

"Wild Man" Gould, who has been going on high in all his recent bouts, has a hard battle on hand tonight when he takes on Tracey Ferguson in one of the feature bouts at the Lake A. C., Worcester.

THIS is the anniversary of the announcement, in 1755, of the exile of the Acadians by the English. The little colony was scattered ruthlessly. Longfellow's poem, "Evangeline," is founded on this tragic occurrence.

A CURIOUS use of straw was seen a century ago outside English law courts. Men with wisps of straw in their shoes paraded the streets during trials. Anyone remanded on bail had only to apply to these men for a loan.

"Mary"

ROMANCE OF A BOSTON BUSINESS GIRL

by [illegible]

Start This Story Today

MARY KELLY wins the post of private secretary to HALL DAWSON, a dynamic promoter with offices in Water street. She instinctively fears him. After the conclusion of a big deal he calls her his mascot and gives her a check for $100, which she accepts with misgivings. Reassured by Dawson, however, she plunges into her work, dreaming of the day she will be his partner. Mary goes to see the parade of the returning Yankee Division and meets PAT SULLIVAN, her childhood sweetheart. Mary again visits Dawson and asks him to give a job to Rita HALL, a friend of hers. He agrees. JACK MAHONEY, a young millionaire, declares his love for her and she decides to marry him.

"I feel like a kid again, Mary. Do you? Remember the day I made you promise you'd marry me?"

"EXCUSE me, Mr. Dawson," I said, touching his arm and trying to step out, "I'll take the car."

"Let Charles take her," Mrs. Dawson nodded impatiently to her chauffeur, who had driven to the curb.

"It's not at all necessary, thank you, Mrs. Dawson," her eyes dropped before mine. "I'm quite capable of reaching home unaided." My voice surprised me with its pleasant ease. She frowned petulantly.

I got on the car and squeezed into a vacant place in the corner, tingling with resentment against [illegible] the wiles, the falseness of [illegible]

And then I began to think of Jack and all the things he had said. He was going to take me to [illegible] I would be working for him, Dawson, perhaps I should not go with it.

MOVIE WORLD NEWS AND COMMENT

MARY CARR, mother of six kids and a film star as well, gives the following rules to bring up children:

1. Mix a little old-fashioned watchfulness with an allowance of newfangled freedom.

2. Take careful stock of your materials. Don't try to make a lemon pie of potatoes, or a priest of a boy who wants to be a policeman.

3. Make your children always proud of you. Smoke your cigarettes and wear your knee-length skirts in strict seclusion.

4. Try to comprehend new viewpoints; don't have your children say, "Don't tell mother, she wouldn't understand."

5. The "easiest way" mother spoils her children in babyhood, then wonders why they are so willing in later years.

OLD HOMESTEAD FILM.

"THE OLD HOMESTEAD," a Paramount picture by James Cruze, is one of the very few motion pictures during recent years that has been filmed almost as written, with but few eliminations or alterations afterwards.

Ordinarily, after a picture has been filmed, whole episodes are taken out in chunks, put in, or changed again. A motion picture is something like a musical comedy, with the book first written, however fine the continuity may be.

A REAL HORSEMOBILE.

"TONY," Tom Mix's famous horse steed, now has a private automobile. It is equipped with special comforts, including rubber strips which keep him from slipping when the car is moving, a drinking fountain, arranged so that the water will not spill when the machine is going over bumpy roads and a gangplank upon which he enters and exits from the machine. It is used to take "Tony," to and from locations.

ENID QUITS FILM.

ENID BENNETT is the latest of the film stars to return to the spoken drama. Miss Bennett is to appear in Oliver Morosco's production of "A Sporting Thing To Do," Thompson Buchanan's new play, which is to have its premier in Los Angeles. After the Los Angeles engagement "A Sporting Thing To Do" will tour the coast and then go eastward, the general procedure of the new Morosco Holding Company attractions. In the cast with Miss Bennett are Edith Lyle, Warner Baxter, Adele Belgrade, Boyd Irwin, Charles A. Stevenson, Roscoe Karns, Henry Hall, Innis Sherer, Thomas Galloway, and Harry Mainmee.

GILBERT'S SWORD IS DRAWN.

JOHN GILBERT, whose remarkable ability in the use of swords proved a sensation in the motion picture version of "Monte Cristo," again proves his prowess in the art of fencing in William Fox's new special attraction, "California Romance."

"Little tricks like clipping off the pockets of his opponents, or cutting off the buttons from their coats were Mr. Gilbert's favorite pastimes during rehearsals. And he certainly made his challengers wary with their actions when they stepped upon the floor [illegible] through their fencing rehearsals."

AROUND WORLD IN 18 DAYS.

JULES VERNE was way ahead of the times when he wrote his story, "Around the World in Eighty Days." Universal has decided to send William Desmond "Around the World in Eighteen Days." That is a revolving picture. Under that title Carl Coolidge and Robert Dillon have devised a chapter-play which J. P. MacGowan is now working on and which will utilize every one of the ninety-seven permanent "sets" which have been built at Universal City.

ALBERT DE CONTI CADASSAMARI was driving a laundry wagon in Los Angeles when he read a want ad for a man who had been an officer of the Austrian army. He qualified and is now doing research work for Erich von Stroheim at Universal City in preparation for the filming of "Foolish Go Lucky." He drove the laundry wagon as a means to eat with reasonable regularity. Now von Stroheim keeps him so busy that he eats only occasionally. He was a machine gun officer with the Second Cavalry Division of the Austrian army when he was captured by the Russians in 1916.

8,000 MARCH IN LABOR DAY PARADE

(Photograph on Pictorial Page.)

More than 8,000 men and women, affiliated with the Central Labor Union, marched through a driving rainstorm in an impressive Labor Day demonstration.

Harry Jennings, Chief Marshal

Carrying banners that defied the railroads to break their spirit and proclaiming "No surrender" as their motto, 4,000 striking railroad men formed the feature of the parade. They were loudly cheered by the spectators.

Their banners rebuked the administration and called attention to the solidity of their ranks after ten weeks of striking. The parade formed at Arlington street, under direction of Business Agent P. Harry Jennings, chief marshal. The route was over Charles street to Columbus avenue, thence via Tremont, Temple place, Washington and School to Beacon and Charles, where the parade was reviewed and dismissed.

Mayor Curley and members of the City Council reviewed the marchers at City Hall. At the State House they were reviewed by Lieutenant Governor Alvan T. Fuller and his staff. Chief Marshal Jennings reviewed the parade from the Common.

Agent Jennings was chief marshal, with E. A. Johnson, secretary of the Trades Council, chief of staff, and Harry P. Grages, Machinists' Union, aide de camp.

The staff included: Mrs. Mary V. Murphy, Women's Municipal Employes' Union; Miss Gertrude Openheim, Women Teachers' Union; Miss Frances Van Tassell and Mary E. Matthews of the Phone operators; Thomas F. Shine, Carmen's Union; John J. Kearney, Cooks and Waiters; George E. Curran, Theatrical; John Derry, Leather Workers; D. J. Foley, Molders; F. J. Maloney, Stage Hands; William S. O'Connor, Newspaper Workers.

The following unions were represented in the parade:

Bakers' Union No. 7, Electrical Workers' Union 104, Machinists' Union 264, Millwright and Erectors' Union 244, Stationery Firemen, Iron Workers, City Teamsters, Ship Builders, Milk Wagon Drivers, Boot and Shoe Workers, Bartenders and Brewery Workers, Street Carmen, Telephone Operators, Carpiosmakers.

MARILYNN REJECTS BIG MOVIE OFFERS

The lure of motion pictures has not ensnared Marilyn Miller, even though she has married into the most famous moving picture family in the world.

Miss Miller, star of "Sally," returned to Boston with her new husband, Jack Pickford, and told of two "perfectly wonderful offers" that she received while honeymooning in California.

Both the offers were turned down, she said, because of her contract with Florenz Ziegfeld, Jr., to appear in "Sally" during the run of the play.

MYSTERY MELODRAMA AT THE ST. JAMES

"The Night Call," a mystery melodrama with a "punch" finale, was presented for the first time in Boston at the St. James Theatre last night. Addison Pitt, director of the play, has turned out a thriller.

There are many opportunities for fine acting, and Eveta Nudsen, Walter Gilbert, Anna Layng, Ralph Bensley, Jane Marbury, Ralph Locke, Harold Chase, Edward Darney and Houston Richards make the most of them.

Hypocrisy Cloaks Sinister Aims of Kellogg Bill

Designed to Crush American Labor

Copyright, 1922, Star Co.

The so-called Kellogg bill, now pending in the Senate, gives the President the right to protect a foreigner within the State, not only from the consequences of a violation of State laws against him, but against the operation of the State laws against him, though they may be operated against the citizen without the protection of the United States Army and Navy.

Under the provisions of this bill, the President may use the army and navy to destroy the land laws by which the Pacific Coast seeks to keep the land in the hands of the white population and of the American citizen. Under its terms, also, the voting qualifications now established in the South could be largely nullified. This bill would increase the Executive power in the National Government still more at the expense of the legislative body. IT WOULD UPSET THE BALANCE OF POWER BETWEEN THE STATES AND THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT IN THE MOST VITAL PART OF LOCAL SOVEREIGNTY—THE RIGHT TO CONTROL THE LAW OF ITS LAND.

Why this revolutionary proposal? The excuse is that the Government seeks power to prevent a repetition of the killing of two Mexicans, who were imported into an Ohio mine as strike-breakers and who lost their lives in a bloody encounter, which was one of the incidents of the strike.

But it is a little strange that, when the shoe was on the other foot, we did not hear any demand for this power. When thugs and ex-convicts and gunmen were armed and put into armored cars to attack women and children of the strikers, sleeping in their tents at night during the great strike in West Virginia, and when they did slaughter them and drove them out in their nightgowns into the cold nights on the mountain side no such power as this was asked or granted. When at Ludlow the armed thugs of the mine owners, among them the Rockefeller interests, slaughtered women and children of the strikers, no demand from the President was heard from this power. WHEN THE LAWLESS GUNMEN OF THE MINE OWNERS SEIZED, WITHOUT RIGHT, HUNDREDS OF STRIKERS, HERDED THEM LIKE CATTLE INTO THE TRAINS AND SENT THEM OVER THE BORDER AND LEFT THEM TO STARVE ON THE DESERT, NO BILL WAS ADVANCED IN THE CONGRESS TO GIVE THE PRESIDENT THE RIGHT TO STOP SUCH THINGS BY THE USE OF THE ARMY AND NAVY, YET FOREIGNERS WERE OUTRAGED IN ALL THESE ACTS.

What then is it that lies behind this demand for this revolutionary Kellogg bill, which upsets the balance between the power of the President and the power of the Congress, and permits the Federal Government still further to encroach upon the powers of the States?

A CHILD CAN SEE THAT IT IS ANOTHER SCHEME TO PUT THE SHACKLES ON LABOR. It is another scheme by which, whenever the mine owners or other big combinations of capital find that a State administration is not willing to use the power of the Government to crush the working men on a strike, they can call in national troops, for of course there is no great strike which does not involve foreigners.

The foreigners themselves, whom this bill pretends to protect, would reject its protection by an overwhelming majority, if they were consulted, for it is not designed to help them but to crush them. In every labor organization, under the provisions of this bill, a foreign spy could be kept as a member, or a non-union foreign spy could be kept in employment, or a non-union foreign strike-breaker could be employed and could be made to apply for the assistance of the National Government upon the pretence that the rights of the foreigner were being invaded. And, thereupon, this foreigner would be protected by the Army and Navy of the United States in alleged rights, though an American citizen could not have that protection.

THE CURIOUS RESULT OF THIS BILL IS THAT IT GIVES TO A FOREIGNER A PROTECTION WHICH IS NOT GIVEN TO AN AMERICAN CITIZEN.

He who runs may read in this bill, not a design to protect the great mass of foreign working men in our mines and manufacturing plants, but to crush them, together with the American citizen who is working at their side, and the crushing them with the power of the United States Army and Navy.

THIS BILL, IN ORDER TO DO THE CRUSHING, THE LIMITATION UPON THE POWER OF GOVERNMENT BY INJUNCTION, FIXED IN THE CLAYTON ACT, WHICH LABOR HAILED AS ONE OF ITS GREATEST CHARTERS OF LIBERTY, HAS BEEN DESTROYED, THE ELECTION LAWS OF THE SOUTH PUT IN JEOPARDY AND THE LAND LAWS OF THE WESTERN STATES WRESTED FROM THE CONTROL OF THEIR ANCIENT POSSESSORS, THE STATES THEMSELVES.

A New Balance of Power

It Will Go to the Biggest Baby Crowd

Copyright, 1922, Star Co.

Europe is talking about a new "balance of power," a grouping together of certain nations for defense, attack and rulership of the continent.

French newspapers fear that England may be found lined up against France. It is very likely, England and France having disagreed on every proposition recently.

An arrangement between France and Austria, with Italy again getting close to Berlin, is predicted, and THAT is probable. Italy got such treatment from her recent allies as will not incline her to tie up with them again, in a hurry.

The real balance of power, eventually, will be with the nations whose mothers produce the most babies to become soldiers. And that balance will go to Russia and Central Europe, Germany and Austria.

Common sense now might avoid danger later. Lloyd George knows it, but his dear friends in the late victory tie his hands.

Americans with money to invest will do well to stick to America. European bonds that seem beautiful now may look like Russian rubles ten years hence, or sooner.

What We Love We Want Near

By Winifred Black

WHAT an ugly little picture it was—hanging close to the head of the bed in the beautiful, luxurious bedroom.

Rose and silver and green were the colors of the room.

In it stood a lovely dressing table, heart-shaped, with an oval mirror that came from France, and a beautiful old chest of drawers, polished by the years as amber beads are sometimes polished by the warmth of loving hand.

Soft rugs of delicate colors and rich curtains added to the charm of the room. And at the foot of the bed a rose-colored eiderdown quilt made you want to curl up and take a nap just to feel like a nice white pussycat—even if you just that moment came out of your own room and your own fairly comfortable bed.

A rose jar on the mantel and an Etruscan vase on the table, a bit of Cloisonne and a delicate little vase of carved silver and ivory a hundred years old at the very least, lured the eye.

And at the head of the bed stood the strange, ugly, common place, little photograph, framed in silver as if it were some great masterpiece.

I wondered and wondered about it.

My friend smiled.

"See," she said, "this is the picture my little son took the last day he ever went out of the house—so gay and cheering and full of hope and laughter he was! He waved good-by to me from the gate and ran down the street whistling, with his new camera under his arm."

"I'll bring you a brand-new picture, mother!" he called back—and when he was gone, and we knew we should never hear his voice again in this world, I sent the camera to the shop and had the picture developed.

"Land's End—that's the name of the place, ugly and commonplace enough to see, isn't it? But wasn't it strange he should take that the subject of the last picture he ever took?

"Land's End—it's an old little house you see at the edge of a cliff that shoots out into the ocean—I've thought of it a thousand times, Land's End.

"I can see the tumbling waves and the white surf and the gallant little figure up above there snapping his camera and so delighted to think that he could really take it home again—a picture of his mother's favorite walk.

"He didn't get to see the picture at all—how disappointed he would have been if he had known.

"You see there isn't much of the sky there, and as for the long, winding walk, narrow and dangerous along the edge of the cliff, these, too, he did not get—only the funny little, bare little house at the top of the cliff.

"But, somehow, it brings him back to me as nothing else in the world, not even the little coat he wore, or the books he carried to school can do.

"That's why I hang it here where I can see it the first thing in the morning and the last thing at night. It reminds me that, no matter how hard the day has been, or how lonely and wakeful the night, Land's End is there, and some time, somewhere, I shall find him waiting for me when I reach Land's End."

How little we know about each other's lives, we who sit so close together and are often so far, so far apart.

German Toys

Editor Boston American:

The importation of German toys threatens to surpass that of any other country this year. Practically all of the toy buyers of Boston stores have been on buying tours through Germany. The fact that the Germans can manufacture toys and other articles so much cheaper than any other country is the cause of monopoly in this field.

Not only is Germany striving hard to regain the toy trade she had before the war, but her exports in all kinds of articles are increasing every month. This is shown by statistics compiled by the National Shawmut Bank of Boston.

In May, 1919, we imported no German merchandise through the port of Boston. In May, 1920, we imported merchandise to the value of $4,003, making a total of $632,119 for the five months of this year. In April, 1921, we imported $253,642 worth of goods, and this year, 1922, $295,600 worth, making a grand total for the year ending February, 1922, of $4,069,993.

Germany is shipping to this country in large quantities all kinds of cheap toys and novelties, and the importers are making large profits. A story is going around of a man who, during the war, was a mechanic in a shipyard, and who last year made over $30,000, importing vacuum bottles from Germany. It seems that he has a brother living in Germany who can buy the merchandise, and ship it to the United States so cheaply that the retail price is far under that of the same article manufactured in this country.

In a pamphlet just issued, the United States Department of Commerce tells domestic manufacturers that they need not be afraid of sharp competition from Germany, because the articles Germany is manufacturing are of a far inferior grade than those manufactured in this country.

WILLIAM G. LYONS.

"Fighting for England."

Editor Boston American:

Why all this newspaper space about Collins? Why hold him up as a great Irish Hero?

Collins was fighting for England to get a naval base in Ireland.

Collins was fighting for England to have control of Irish harbors.

Collins was fighting for England so she could have an English Governor-General in Ireland, who would appoint an army of paid English spies.

Collins was fighting to have Irishmen help pay off England's national debt.

Collins was fighting to have Irishmen put up their right hand and swear allegiance to a British King.

There was and are better Irishmen than Collins ever was or ever would be.

Irishmen who died fighting for an Irish Republic, and Irishmen who are now willing to die for an Irish Republic, not for a Slave State.

JOHN McNAMARA.

Un-American

Editor Boston American:

The letters of Mrs. McKim and Cobb of Salem are of the kind which Hyphens or Hyphenated Saxonism usually write. They belong to the days when Salem was noted for the witch burning. It takes a long time to eradicate the kinks in such people's minds.

Racial and religious bigotry must not find a place in any true American heart and if such people as McKim or Cobb represents, don't like what America stands for, they had better remove themselves to the places they came from, that is some part of the limits of the British Empire.

The longer America refuses to recognize the Irish Republic so long is America denying to Ireland the freedom Americans enjoy themselves, which is un-American.

If This Is Your Birthday

You Are LUCKY

You should have a splendid mind for business if born today, because you have a clear, swift, active brain and you are enough of a gambler to stand or fall by the accuracy of your own estimates.

Furthermore, you are analytical. Problems interest you and appeal to your sporting instincts. You are probably fond of all sorts of intricate card games and puzzles.

You have a good head for mathematics, but you are not enough of a scientist to enjoy figuring for its own sake. For you, such an occupation must bear some relation to your personal fortunes.

A child born today will be rash, impetuous and rather intractable in disposition, but brilliant in mind if allowed to develop according to its talents.

Famous persons born this day:

William Alexander Graham—Secretary of the Navy.

Darius O. Mills—Banker.

Once-Overs

EVER FEEL LIKE RUNNING AWAY FROM EVERBODY?

Sometimes you feel that you want to get away from everyone—even your family.

As this desire sinks deeper you wonder if you are becoming tired of everybody, your family included.

The thought startles you, rather.

You wonder if others have the same feelings.

But if you could look into the heart of man you would know.

It is human for one to want, and need, a change of environment, and the greater the change, to some, the more restful.

After a vacation trip one returns, usually, with a warmer feeling for family and friends, both at home and abroad, showing that, after all, family and friends are necessary to one's greatest comfort and enjoyment.

"Absence makes the heart grow fonder," is a truism which is appreciated much more after one has been away from home for a time.

We all need lessons of this sort when we get worn out nervously, and the lessening of tension proves we are still sanely fond of those who should be near and dear.

SEEN AND HEARD

HER name is Eva, and she wraps bundles and makes change in the basement of one of Boston's largest department stores. Eva is somewhat of a phenomenon, because some one heard her say the other day to a fellow-worker, "I can't talk now, I'm too busy." Whereupon she handed a neatly done-up bundle and forty-five cents to a waiting customer.

What a refreshing change from the girl who CAN'T WORK because she's TOO BUSY TALKING! Our hats are off to Eva—may her tribe increase!

Election of Wellington D. Rankin as U. S. Senator from Montana would result in another New England man being sent to Washington from a Western State, for Mr. Rankin, as well as the "Congress lady" of that name, used to live in Newington, N. H., a little more than an hour's ride out of Boston.

President James H. Hustis of the Boston & Maine is a great booster for the Railroad Y. M. C. A., which does so much for the men's welfare. Mr. Hustis himself has been associated with the work back to the days when he and Cornelius Vanderbilt used to attend the meetings together.

The degree of Doctor of Divinity has gone down in price. It is now sold by two colleges in America for fifteen dollars, the former price being twenty-five. One minister got three degrees right here in Boston from Western and Southern colleges for a bargain—seventy-five dollars for a D.D. Ph.D. and L.H.D. This trade in degrees has started an organization among Episcopal ministers who will not receive or buy degrees that they have not earned. The headquarters are in New York and a branch will soon be started in Boston.

Will Easter lilies bloom again if not out after the holiday season? Most people answer this in the negative and throw away their plants, but not so Miss Mary Gillooly of No. 97 King street, Dorchester, who today has her Easter plants again in blossom, admired by scores of neighbors and other friends.

Jack Healy, known to almost everybody in Winter Hill as "Pete, the Letter Carrier," is surely popular. His sub reports that if he answered one question as to when "Pete" was coming back from his vacation, he's answered a thousand or more. In the meantime "Pete" is motor boating and watching the twilight games from third base at the Richard Trum Playground.

Colonel Walter C. Sweeney, intelligence officer at the First Corps Area, who has just returned from a month at the Institute of Politics at Williamstown, is full of new ideas in international politics. He is giving illuminating talks on what he picked up from the many political leaders and writers who attended the conference.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON THE TELESCOPE

By Garrett P. Serviss

"What is the power of the telescope at the Lick observatory? Would a good-make telescope of thirty-eight power be of much use for limited astronomical work? What of the heavenly wonders would such a glass reveal? Anything of Mars?—F. N. F., New York."

THE Lick telescope has an object-glass thirty-six inches in diameter, or, as astronomers call it, aperture. Now, the object-glass of a telescope is like the lens of an eye, in that by concentrating at its focus the rays of light from an object it forms an image of that object, which may be examined with a magnifier called the eye-piece. Moreover, the size of the object-glass determines the amount of light that is concentrated at its focus. This amount varies with the square of the diameter of the glass.

The first essential of a telescope is that it shall collect more light than the naked eye does. The amount of light entering the eye is limited by the size of the round hole in the iris called the pupil, which, on the average, is from a fifth to a quarter of an inch in diameter. Since the light varies with the square of the diameter, if we have a telescope one inch in aperture, and the pupil of the eye is one-fourth of an inch, the light-gathering power of the telescope will be to that of the naked eye at sixteen to one. For terrestrial seeing, by daylight, it is probably twenty-five to one, for in a bright light the pupil contracts to a fifth of an inch, or less.

Now, the object-glass of the Lick telescope being thirty-six inches in aperture, which is at least 144 times the aperture of the pupil, its light-gathering power must be the square of 144, or 20,736 times that of the naked eye. If no light were lost in transmission through the glass, the telescope should, therefore, show stars twenty thousand times fainter than the faintest that the unaided eye can see.

This brings into view millions of stars where the eye sees only a few thousand. It also enables the telescope to "penetrate" into enormous depths of space that may appear black and starless to the eye alone. This is a star that lies just as the limit of visibility to the naked eye would, if removed to a distance about 140 times greater, still be within the range of the Lick telescope.

In viewing the moon and the planets, all of which exhibit more or less extended disks, the light-gathering power of the telescope enables the astronomer to magnify the image many fold without rendering it too faint to be clearly seen. Experience has shown that the magnifying power that can be effectively used with any telescope is about the regular ratio to the aperture, namely about fifty or sixty diameters to the inch. Under exceptional circumstances, and only for particular objects, a power as high as 100 diameters to the inch of aperture may occasionally be employed. For ordinary purposes the astronomer does not often go beyond 1,000 or 1,500 diameters with even the largest telescopes. If we take sixty as the average maximum magnification, then the power of the Lick telescope may be put at about 2,100 diameters.

—Medbury Says—

People Nowadays Are Becoming More Hospitable Than Ever Before

People are becoming more hospitable all the time. It's nothing any more to visit neighbors and have them ask you to stay all night.

Your host and hostess may begin fighting along towards midnight, but don't let that bother you. They're just trying to make you feel at home.

They can't wait until you leave before they begin scrapping because you don't leave until morning, and if they waited that long, they'd forget what they wanted to fight about.

They usually give you the best room in the house unless you are very good friends of theirs.

They put pretty little hand-embroidered guest towels in your room, in fact, the towels are so beautiful that you are afraid to use them.

Nine out of ten guests will never use the towels you put in the room for them; they wash their faces and hands and stick them out of the window to dry.

One woman had the bed fixed so beautifully for her guest he sat up all night looking at it.

He stayed there the next night too, but he went to sleep on the floor.

One guy visited some friends and he was so used to staying at hotels that he kept pushing the electric light button all night ringing for ice water.

Another bird forgot that he was stopping with friends and sneaked out of the window early in the morning without paying his bill.

The last fellow who stopped with them also forgot where he was and put his shoes outside the door to be shined.

It isn't any cheaper to stay all night with friends, because the next day you have to take them out to dinner or send them a five-pound box of candy.

It would be cheaper to get a $3 room at a hotel and eat the candy yourself.

Of course, if a man had enough friends to visit he wouldn't have to have any home at all.

General delivery would be his permanent address.

Still, there is quite a strain about staying all night with friends. A lot of people can't sleep, they stay awake until 6 or 7 o'clock in the morning worrying about what they're going to get for breakfast.

And the hostess stays awake, too, worrying about what she's going to give them.

If you're going to do much visiting it's best to have a lot of friends and sleep with the ones who have the best beds and eat with the ones who have the best food.

And then if the worst comes to the worst you can always stay at home.

OUIMET EQUALS RECORD

Equals Guilford's Mark of 70 in the First Round of Match Play

By NICK FLATLEY.

Country Club, Brookline, Sept. 5.—Francis Ouimet of Woodland, former open and amateur champion, found his golfing magic today in the opening round of match play for the national championship, and after a slow start, whirled around the course in 70, equaling the mark Guilford established in yesterday's deluge.

Francis was five up on Colin Aylmer of the English team at the end of the morning round.

ROGER GUILFORD WINS.

Roger Guilford led off the Boston contingent in the first round of match play by defeating Marcus Brown of Philadelphia, 4 and 3. He blocked around the course in 77, hitting a long ball, approaching well, and putting faultlessly. He took the lead at the second hole, won the third. But his opponent had a kick too, for he evened the match by grabbing the fifth and sixth, where Jess was a bit off.

After that the champion got going, went in front at the ninth, and never dropped a hole thereafter till the match ended at the 16th. They played out the bye holes.

Guilford's card:

Out—5 3 4 4 5 3 2 4 5—35.
In—4 3 5 4 4 4 6 4 6—36—71.

William McPhail, the Norfolk youngster, was the second of the natives to report, winning an easy match from Carlton Wells, the Michigan champ, 6 up.

NEWTON FALLS BEFORE TOLLEY.

Frank Newton of the Country Club left here so well, stacked up against Cyril Tolley, the Englishman. The Briton was in his best golfing mood, and went around in 71, one shot away from the great Guilford record of yesterday. His best shot came at the 17th, where he sunk a mashie approach for an eagle deuce.

Tolley's card:

Out .... 5 4 5 3 4 3 3 5 4—36
In ..... 4 6 3 4 5 4 3 3 4—35—71

One of the big morning matches was staged by John Anderson of New York, and Chick Evans of Chicago, both former champions. The Edgewater star went around in 71, four strokes better than Anderson.

Wareham Man, 99, Cuts Wood and Paints House

Wareham, Sept. 5.—Galen Humphrey, with but one year to go to reach the century mark, is still active as many less than half his years.

With the many varied vocations he pursued, Galen hasn't had time to grow old. He recently finished painting his house. Every season he splits a Winter's supply of wood, some of which is so tough that it requires the use of a 'beetle.' Humphrey took part in the mad rush West during the gold craze and has faced yellow fever in the Isthmus of Panama.

STOLE WOOD FROM WESTWOOD; FINED $25

John O'Hare of West Roxbury was disillusioned in Dedham Court today.

John, for many years, had believed the maxim that fate helps those who help themselves.

Unfortunately he accepted it too literally, with the result that he was haled into court for stealing a load of cord wood from the town of Westwood. John C. Mulvehill, superintendent of streets of Westwood, told Judge Clifford Sanborn that O'Hare backed a truck up to the wood yards and carried away a load. O'Hare pleaded guilty and paid a $25 fine.

Wife Missing, Politician Blames Foe's Charges

Springfield, Sept. 5.—Marguerite O. Tilton, thirty-two, wife of Assistant District Attorney Rufus D. Tilton of Berkshire County, disappeared from her home in Springfield Sunday. Today the police began a search for her. Her disappearance is the second sensational development, arising from the fight for the Republican nomination for district attorney from Berkshire County.

Tilton charges that his wife left home Sunday morning after being upset by charges hurled at him by Richard D. Talbot, candidate for nomination.

Tilton fears for the safety of his wife and has asked the police to bend every effort to locate her. He said that she left home Sunday morning after two days of anguish arising from notoriety given her husband, an assistant of District Attorney Charles H. Wright.

Talbot accused Tilton of accepting a $400 bribe to quash a bigamy indictment, in a speech Friday. Mrs. Tilton, he said, brooded over the affair and left home Sunday morning.

Her appearance, following close on the heels of the arraignment of Mrs. Pasqualina Sinicalchi, widow of Carl Sinicalchi, murdered "King of Little Italy" of Springfield, on a charge of assaulting Talbot with intent to kill him has plunged Springfield into the bitterest political muddle ever fought here.

Mrs. Sinicalchi was held in $10,000 in the District Court today on the assault charge. The assault grew out of alleged utterances of Talbot during another rally.

Talbot, during his speech, bitterly scored the present incumbent and launched into an attack on his allowing Carlo, the woman's husband, to carry on extensive bootlegging operations. She didn't like the things he said about her husband.

She proceeded to his office it is charged, picked up a check protector and beat him on the shoulders with it in an attempt to kill him.

GIRL SUES NARCOTIC AGENT

Property of Clark Attached in $20,000 by Miss Paradise of Hudson

Miss Elizabeth M. Paradise of Hudson today took action in a suit against Chester H. Clark, head of the Federal narcotic bureau of Boston.

Attorney John E. Rice of Marlboro filed an attachment in East Cambridge Court for $20,000 on Clark's bank accounts and property.

According to Attorney Rice, the young woman, who is employed in a Hudson shoe factory, met Clark, a resident of Glenwoodale, in 1905.

They became engaged to wed in 1906, the lawyer charges, and a house who procured in Concord, in which the couple planned to live after marriage.

After a few years, however, Clark is said to have tired of Miss Paradise, and to have become attentive to another girl who lived in Marlboro. Miss Paradise declared she was at all times willing to keep her part of the agreement to marry.

Stenographer Goes On Stump For Her Employer

MISS ELIZABETH M. FITZGERALD

All day she takes down campaign speeches at dictation, then at night she goes out and makes better ones herself.

For eleven years Elizabeth M. Fitzgerald, Malden girl, has been working for George Stanley Harvey, candidate for district attorney of Middlesex County. And for eleven years she has kept her light under the well known bushel.

During the campaign she has attended every rally, taking down the speeches, not only of Harvey, but of his rivals. And then on Friday she said nonchalantly "I could make better speeches than these myself."

Instantly Harvey took her up. He sent her out stumping in four rallies in Newton. Newton was once Miss Fitzgerald's home town, and while she had a friendly audience, her arguments were so good that Harvey made up his mind that she was to be one of his corps of speakers.

So now Miss Fitzgerald pounds her keys all day and then goes out on the stump.

Dempsey Ready to Close Match With Harry Wills

Michigan City, Ind., Sept. 5.—Jack Dempsey, and Manager Kearns left today for New York prepared, they said, to close a match with Harry Wills.

"If Wills and the promoters are ready for action, I will cancel all the other negotiations and give Wills the opportunity the public and the promoters wish to see," Kearns said. "We are ready to take on Wills any time."

CHARGE VAUGHN, IN STOLEN AUTO, HELD UP MAN

Michael Vaughn of No. 19 Front street, South Boston, was arrested today as one of the three auto bandits who held up and robbed Patrick Kiley, night manager of the Puritan Gasoline Filling Station, Dorchester avenue and B street, South Boston.

Vaughan, charged with robbing Kiley of $25, was held in $1,000 bonds for a hearing on September 12, after arraignment in the South Boston court.

He was identified by Kiley as one of the three men who drove to the filling station Sunday night. Two remained outside while the third entered the office and at the point of a revolver, compelled Kiley to open the cash register.

Kiley obtained the number of the automobile, which was later reported stolen by its owner, Asbjy M. Arnot of No. 200 Church street, Milton. The machine, stolen from the Charles street parking space, was abandoned in the South End and recovered by the police.

MELROSE, BROOKLINE, SUE MELROSE, NEWTON

A petition for separate support was filed in East Cambridge Court today by Mrs. Enid E. Melrose of Brookline against Murdock W. Melrose of Newton. Mrs. Melrose charged her husband with cruel and abusive treatment and non-support and asked for the custody of their children, George Russell Melrose and Enid Lauraine Melrose. She also attached her husband's property for $10,000. Mrs. Melrose was represented by Ropes, Gray, Boyden & Perkins of No. 60 State street, Boston.

'BABE' RUTH HITS 29TH HOME RUN

New York, Sept. 5.—Babe Ruth ran his total of home runs up to twenty-nine in the first inning of today's double header with the Red Sox. He crashed out his homer with no one on base and Pennock pitching.

MANY ON CARS THAT COLLIDE

Several Persons Faint, and Many Are Trampled in Rush for Doors

Nine women were seriously injured, several fainted, fifteen were badly shaken up and trampled under foot when two trains collided in the Park street subway during the afternoon rush today.

A Huntington avenue car was in the station, loading with passengers, when it was jammed by a Jamaica Plain car. The Jamaica Plain car was empty.

Injured, at the Relief Hospital follow:

Mrs. Minnie M. Miller, fifty-three years old, No. 23 Everett street, Melrose.

An unidentified young woman.

Charles G. Golding, No. 63 Lynn street, Everett.

Among the passengers on the train were Mrs. Alfred Rosser of No. 16 Charles street and Miss Elizabeth Jones of Tennessee.

The two women had just come from Mayor Curley's office, where Miss Jones had been presented with the keys to the city.

They were on their way to the Parker Hill Hospital, where they were to visit some wounded soldiers.

"The car was half empty," said Mrs. Rosser in her account of the collision. "We had just about gotten on the car, and there was quite a crush of passengers behind us trying to get on, when the crash came.

"I can't understand how a car coming in the station could have jammed us with such force. It seemed as though everybody in the car was knocked down. Several people trampled on me and on Miss Jones.

"As soon as I saw that I wasn't seriously injured I tried to render first aid. It took me fifteen minutes to persuade an attendant to get me a glass of water for a woman who had fainted."

Mrs. Mary Corcoran, twenty-nine years old, No. 3 Edgar street, Roxbury, dislocated left shoulder and bruised.

WIFE TAKES FATAL SECRET TO GRAVE

DEAD FROM POISON PILLS

Hides Identity of the "Other Man"; Suicide, Say Officials

Mineola, N. Y., Sept. 5.—Traces of poison have been found in the vital organs of the body of Mrs. Catherine J. Wainwright of Springfield, Ill., according to a report made to District Attorney Weeks today.

An investigation, which was begun because of the circumstances surrounding her death in Nassau Hospital several weeks ago, had been interrupted pending the result of the analysis.

The poison was self-administered, District Attorney Weeks now believes. Mrs. Wainwright, whose husband, Robert C. Wainwright, is a civil engineer now in South America, had been living with her parents at Floral Park, N. Y.

When first admitted to the hospital, she was believed to be suffering from a stomach ailment, but is later said to have admitted taking pills which she said had been given her by her husband.

Reminded that her husband had been away since April, Mrs. Wainwright was reported to have said the pills were given to her by another man. She died without making his identity known. She leaves, beside her husband, a four-year-old daughter.

GIRLS, LET REX TELL THE KIND MEN WANT

By WILLENE TAYLOR.
Cosmopolitan News Service Staff Correspondent.

New York, Sept. 5.—Let Rex Beach tell ···· girls, just what the men are falling for these days. Want to be a charmer? Want to be the "kind of a girl a man wants to make his wife?" Want to know the correct bait for this season's catch?

Then push back your curly hair and listen to what Rex Beach told me in an interview today.

"Men want girls who are in the very front ranks of progress, of fearless, of freedom, of everything independent," he said.

"Men love the short skirts, the rolled stockings, the cigarette toting girl.

WHAT MEN ARE CRAZY ABOUT.

Men are crazy about the capable, brave, honest, on-the-square girl of today.

"Men wouldn't care a thing for the Quakeress. I don't believe. An unsophisticated girl wouldn't interest them.

"Men wouldn't like it at all, if all of a sudden girls reverted to the type their mothers were twenty years ago.

"This talk about the laxity of the modern girl's morals is a pow wow over nothing. Of course, she has changed, but the point that everybody seems to miss is that the boys have changed, too.

BETTER THAN FATHERS.

"Boys have advanced right along with the girls—they have changed their viewpoints as the girls changed theirs. It is only the old fellows who think the young men of today disapprove of the modern girl. The young men are just as free in their manners, and confidentially, I think their manners are much better than their father's were.

"What's all this about the modern woman driving man into celibacy? Well if Francis Henry Gribble, the English novelist and critic said that, he was just expressing a personal feeling. I don't think it's true at all. If there is less marriage in any country it is due to conditions in economics—never to lack of attraction between sexes.

ROMANCE STILL RULES.

"No use getting excited over scarcity of marriages. Romance is still ruler. Folks will always get that marriage bee as soon as the right girl meets the right man.

"I have an idea that if marriage were made harder and divorces easier, there would be a happier state of things. Fewer marriages might mean happier and longer ones.

"I'm convinced both young girls and boys are better than they were when I was young. Why, looking back at the boys in my acquaintance when I was growing up, I don't think much of them. But the youths today? They're fine. They're cleaner, straighter thinking, too. 'Modern woman robbed of her mystery and therefore uninteresting?' Bosh—can you imagine woman uninteresting? Impossible."

KATHERINE GRANT.

Here's a peach that will make "Miss Boston" step at Atlantic City. She is Miss Katherine Grant of Los Angeles, Cal., and she's come way across the country to show the Eastern girls a thing or two in the pulchritude line. She is the fairest of the fair from the fair city. Wow, only eighteen years old and she has the movie queens in Hollywood envious of her beauty, but she'll have to step fast to "outbeauty" Miss Boston, hey boys!

SEEK BAY STATE GREATEST WOMEN

Who were the twenty-five greatest women of Massachusetts?

Their names are wanted by the Woman's Universal Alliance to place on a tablet in the Temple of Womanhood which it is planned to erect in Washington.

All citizens of the State will have a chance to send in nominations of the women to be named for this honor. As a preliminary step a contest has been announced of $50 in gold for the best list of twenty-five great women not now living from this State, accompanied by brief descriptive matter of their career.

Anybody over the age of twelve years may compete, and the only condition is that the women are not now living. Included in the list submitted are Priscilla Alden, Clara Barton, Mercy Warren, Anne Hutchinson, Dorothy Hancock, Deborah Samson, Abigail Adams, Susan B. Anthony and Margaret Fuller.

Full details of the contest can be had by addressing the "Great Women Contest, Woman's Universal Alliance, No. 1019 New Hampshire avenue, northwest, Washington, D. C."

The final selection of the names will be in the hands of a special historical research committee of one hundred prominent citizens of this State.

TWO ACTRESSES TRY SUICIDE BY POISON

New York, Sept. 5.—Two actresses attempted suicide today by swallowing poison.

Miss Donnie Harrison, 29 years old, leaving a note saying she was desperate because she was unable to rid herself of addiction to drugs, was found unconscious in her bed which had been set afire by a cigarette. Her condition is serious.

Mrs. Vera Maynard, thirty-two years old, a widow, who was discharged from Bellevue Hospital two weeks ago after an attempt to end her life, told detectives that she made her second attempt today because she realized that she could not achieve success as a motion picture actress. She added that she would try suicide again if she recovered.

Mrs. Maynard, whose condition is not serious, was picked up at a street corner by two men who took her to a hospital in an automobile.

BRITONS BRING U. S. STATUE OF BURKE

London, Sept. 5.—A British delegation headed by Charles Wakefield and organized by the Sulgave Institution sailed aboard the steamship Adriatic today for an American tour, the principal purpose of which is to take a statue of Burke and busts of Chatham and Bryce as gifts to the American people. Lady Wakefield, Harold Spender, Sir Arthur and Lady Haworth and H. S. Perris are members of the party.

INSURE FRENCH MISS AGAINST OLD MAID

Paris, Sept. 5.—French mothers may now insure their daughters against not marrying.

This is due to the enterprise of a Paris insurance company which had previously inaugurated an insurance scheme for men against bachelordom.

Another great insurance company now announces that to protect the men it will insure young boys against marriage, with double premium if children result.

OUIMET TIES RECORD OF 70

but he was only one up, that by virtue of a sensational pitch from the bank in front of the home green, the ball rolling to within two feet of the cup, and laying Anderson a practical stymie.

EVANS IN CLOSE BATTLE.

Evans won three of the first four holes, but Anderson then came back and went to the turn only one down. He evened the match on the eleventh where Evans was in trouble in the rough, and took six to get on. Chick's four at the 14th was good for a win, and the battling pair halved the holes the rest of the way in.

Evans out 5—4—3—4—4—4—4—4—4—33.
In 4—4—3—5—4—4—3—4—5—36 —71.

Anderson out 4—4—5—4—3—4—4—5—4—34.
In 4—5—4—4—5—4—3—4—4 — 38 —72.

Parker Schofiel dof Albermarle and George Aulbach of Scarboro had a merry tussle all the way around, and were even when they dropped putts on the home hole.

Francis Ouimet, another of the champions, was in his of sensational form, and Colin Aylmer of the English team, was left way behind by his remarkable golf at the thirteenth green.

After starting with a poor six at the first Ouimet settled down into his very best form. He was straight down the line off the tee, was sticking his approaches up to the hole, and putting plenty of bite on them.

His putting touch returned and he was dropping long ones for pars and birdies all the way around. His British opponent played fine golf, but wilter early before the Ouimet wizardry.

Francis did his round in 70, equaling the record that his champion team mate established yesterday.

The score:

Out ..... 6 4 4 2 4 4 3 5 4—37
In ..... 3 5 2 4 4 4 4 3 4—33—70

Bobby Jones, the Atlanta wonder, who was runnerup in the qualifying round, was a poor starter, and John J. Beadle of Philadelphia had him two down at the turn. Jones, out in 40, was sluggish on his approaches and putts, and had a flock of fives and fours, going the nine holes in 40.

Coming home he recovered well, and made the last nine in 33, but Beadle was hanging grimly on, and the match was even at the home hole.

Jones' card:

CANNOT SMOKE IN HEAVEN, SAYS BOOTH

London, Sept. 5.—"I am certain that there is no smoking in Heaven," said General Booth, addressing a meeting of Walsh Salvationists at Cardiff on "The Little Devils That Assail Us."

"Although I am not aware of anything in the New Testament forbidding smoking," he continued, "I do not know what St. Peter would say if any one presented himself with a meerschaum in his mouth."

LIQUOR CUSTODY AGAIN UNDECIDED

Judge Morton in Federal Court today issued an order restraining Chief of Police Sullivan of Manchester from disposing of twenty-six cases of liquor seized on the schooner Hawk, pending the outcome of Federal forfeiture proceedings. The liquor was turned over to Chief Sullivan by Judge Sears of the Salem Court, who declared that under a statute the State has the right to hold it when it is found to be for sale. Today Assistant U. S. Attorney Charles P. Curtis, Jr., appeared before Judge Morton and obtained the restraining order.

TWO PYRAMID DANCE STARS

COWS PROVIDE CLEW TO ALPS MURDER

Geneva, Sept. 5.—A herd of fifty cows wandering untended on the slopes of Mount Arvel led to the discovery of a murder followed by suicide on the summit of the mountain 6,000 feet above sea level.

When the vagrant cows were reported to the authorities at Villeneuve two gendarmes were sent up to investigate. They found the dead bodies of two cowherds in a small chalet on the summit. A letter left by the older, a man named Benn, twenty-two years old, contained a confession that after a violent quarrel he had beaten his younger comrade, aged twelve to death, but was afterwards overwhelmed with remorse.

He had washed his victim's wounds, carefully placed the body on the bed, and after writing the letter hanged himself in an adjoining room.

ITALIAN BEAUTY HITS AT MODERN SKIRT

Paris, Sept. 5.—When Jane Burr and her knickerbockers arrived in Paris she found a famous Italian beauty had "beaten her to it."

At a reception given at Chateau Villegenis by Mrs. William Ellis Corey (formerly Mabel Gilman), the beautiful Marquise Casati, called most famous woman in Italy, arrived wearing wide "knickers" about three times wider than the trousers of a Zouave. They were made of silk.

"The modern skirt is indecent," she explained to a circle of friends which included Grand Duke Boris, Prince Karem de Kapurthala and Berry Wall.

ILLINOIS TO VOTE ON BEER AND WINE

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 5.—A proposal for a public policy vote on wine and beer will go on the November ballot unless the courts intervene, Secretary of State Louis L. Emmerson announced today after receiving from a delegation of "wet" boosters a petition bearing 850,000 names. The petition arrived in a motor truck from Chicago and was followed shortly afterward by a delegation of Chicago "wets" who came in a special train.
